THINK WHAT IT MEANS!

225 Years of Religious and Educational Work

This great work is still going on. Millions of silent messengers, in the form of books and pamphlets, are carrying their message for the uplift of mankind to the remotest corners of the earth.

These publications are not only of a religious kind, such as Bibles and Prayer Books, theological and devotional books. The wonders of science and of nature, history, biography, poetry, art, literature, and healthy books for boys and girls are all represented.

Can you visualise what it means—the circulation of this vast amount of sound literature? Its silent, but none the less potent, influence for good on the characters and lives of countless generations of people.

Does it not inspire you with enthusiasm, and arouse within you a desire to take part yourself and hasten the time when the earth shall be filled with the glory of God as the waters cover the sea?

If so, come to S.P.C.K. for your books and so help on its work. Lists and catalogues will be posted to you free of charge, and to any of your friends who are likely to be interested.

HOMELESS CHILDREN'S AID AND ADOPTION SOCIETY AND F. B. MEYER CHILDREN'S HOME

(Society for Befriending the Unmarried Mother and Child)

THE UNWANTED CHILD must pass through life under terrible disadvantages. It is not the child's fault—"the sins of the fathers (and mothers) are visited on the children."

This Society seeks, as far as possible, to give the child a good Christian training and a fair chance in life.

MR. HAROLD SPENDER writes of the Home: "A perfect Paradise for Babies, where shadows are turned into sunshine."

The Society and its Home are changing Despair into Hope. The mother shepherded to a worthy life, the father brought to face his duty, and the child safeguarded towards a happy future. 600 of these sad and pitiful cases have been assisted during the past three years.

SILCOATES SCHOOL

Near WAKEFIELD

SILCOATES is finely situated on a ridge of hills, a couple of miles to the west of Wakefield. Its air is splendidly bracing, and in the open country behind the School, separate fixed runs of five, four and three miles, respectively, are taken by all scholars once per week during the two winter terms. It stands on its own estate of 38 acres. The regular playing fields in front of the School, which are used daily, cover over 11 acres.

Additions in the last three years include enlarged laboratories, suite of five music rooms, two large workshops, five courts, five new tennis lawns and a new football field of about five acres. A large scheme of extension, in connection with the Centenary and Memorial Fund, has thus been commenced.

Silcoates dates from 1820, when it was founded as the "Yorkshire Dissenters' Grammar School." In 1831 it was re-modelled as the "Congregational School for the Counties of York and Lancaster," open only to sons of Independent ministers. Laymen's sons have, however, been re-admitted since 1842. The School was rebuilt in 1873, but the premises then opened were totally destroyed by fire in 1904. After a romantic exile for four years at Saltburn-by-the-Sea, the present handsome buildings were opened on October 1st, 1908, by the Rt. Hon. Walter Runciman, M.P., then President of the Board of Education.

But the true history of a School is best read in the life and work of its old boys. Not a few distinguished men have gone forth from Silcoates. Among other well-known names are found those of :—

Dr. Guinness Rogers.
 Dr. D. W. Simon.
 Sir C. Reed.
 Mr. Gerard N. Ford.

Mr. W. T. Stead.
 Sir George Newnes.
 Prof. L. C. Miall, F.R.S.
 Mr. Theodore C. Taylor.

Dr. R. W. McAll.
 Dr. Caleb Scott.
 Mr. E. L. Godkin.
 Mr. J. S. Fletcher.

To large numbers of Free Churchmen to-day, occupying positions of responsibility all the world over, Silcoates is "alma mater," the place where they learnt to love clean sport adventure, good books, good things, God.

Chairman of the Governors : J. GOODIER HAWORTH, Esq., M.A., J.P., of Altrincham.

Headmaster : Mr. SYDNEY H. MOORE, M.A. (London). Assisted by seven Resident Masters (all graduates of British Universities), and four Non-resident Masters.

PLAN AND CONSTITUTION

OF THE

LONDON MISSIONARY SOCIETY

ESTABLISHED IN 1795.

I. NAME.—The Title of the Society shall continue to be The Missionary Society, usually called The London Missionary Society.

II. OBJECT.—The sole object is to spread the knowledge of Christ among heathen and other unenlightened nations.

III. FUNDAMENTAL PRINCIPLE.—As the union of Christians of various denominations in carrying on this great work is a most desirable object, so, to prevent, if possible, any cause of future dissension, it is declared to be a fundamental principle of The Missionary Society that its design is not to send Presbyterianism, Independency, Episcopacy, or any other form of Church Order and Government (about which there may be difference of opinion among serious persons), but the glorious Gospel of the blessed God, to the heathen ; and that it shall be left (as it ought to be left) to the minds of the persons whom God may call into the Fellowship of His Son from among them to assume for themselves such form of Church Government as to them shall appear most agreeable to the Word of God.

IV. MEMBERS.—Persons subscribing One Guinea, or more, annually ; every Benefactor making a donation of Ten Pounds, or more ; one of the Executors, on the payment of a legacy amounting to Fifty Pounds, or more ; and the Minister, or one other representative, of any congregation contributing for the use of the Society Five Pounds, or more, annually, shall be members of the Society, and entitled to vote at its general meetings.

V. ANNUAL MEETING.—A General Meeting of Members of the Society shall be held annually in London during the month of May ; to appoint a Treasurer or Treasurers, Secretaries and Directors ; to receive Reports and audited Accounts ; and to deliberate on any measures which may promote the object of the Society. At such meeting all matters proposed shall be determined by the majority of the members present.

VI. SPECIAL MEETING.—On any emergency the Directors shall be empowered to summon, if they deem it necessary, a Special Meeting of Members of the Society.

VII. NEW MISSIONS.—No new Mission field shall be entered upon without due public notice of not less than fourteen days before an Annual or a Special Meeting of Members of the Society, nor without the concurrence of the majority of the members present at such Annual or Special Meeting of Members.

VIII. BOARD OF DIRECTORS.—This shall consist of as many Directors, annually chosen out of the members of the Society, as circumstances may require. Not more than one-third of the Directors shall reside in or near London, where all ordinary meetings for transacting the business of the Society shall be held. Members may attend, if they please, with the Directors, at any of the meetings of the Board, but without the right to vote.

IX. POWERS.—The Directors are empowered to collect and to receive all moneys contributed to the Society, and to expend the same on its behalf. Also to select and manage Mission Stations; to appoint, send forth and fittingly sustain Missionaries; from time to time to make, alter and amend by-laws for the general conduct of business; and otherwise to carry out in a suitable manner the object of the Society. The receipt of one of the Treasurers or Home Secretary shall be a sufficient discharge for all moneys, legacies, or bequests contributed to the Society.

X. BUSINESS.—For greater facility and expedition in the conduct of business, the Directors are empowered to subdivide into Committees for managing funds, for examining candidates for Missionary service, for conducting correspondence, directing Missions, making Reports and the like. Not less than seven Directors, exclusive of the officers of the Society, shall constitute a Meeting of the Board for the dispatch of business. The Treasurers and Secretaries shall be ex-officio, entitled to meet and vote with the Directors of the Society.

XI. SALARIES.—The Secretaries shall receive such salaries as the Directors may appoint; but the Directors themselves shall transact the business of the Society without any emolument.

XII. FUNDS.—All funds arising from Donations, Legacies, Subscriptions, Collections and other sources of income, shall be lodged, as soon as collected, with the Bankers of the Society.

XIII. TRUSTEES AND INVESTMENTS.—(a) All moneys exceeding the sum required for the current use of the Society shall be invested, under the instructions of the Directors, in such stocks, shares, funds, or securities as they may approve. All registered stocks, shares, funds, and securities shall be registered in the names of not less than three Trustees, who shall be appointed by the Directors from among the members of the Board or in the name of The London Missionary Society Corporation.

- (b) The Directors shall have power to remove at their discretion any Trustee appointed by them ; and to fill up any vacancy occurring on the death, resignation, or removal of any Trustee by the appointment of a new Trustee from among the members of the Board.
- (c) Every Trustee shall be appointed by a resolution of the Board, passed at one of its ordinary meetings ; and every Trust shall be created by a deed duly executed. In the execution of such deeds the Directors shall be represented by the following members and officers of the Board, or any three of them : the Chairman for the time being ; a member of the Finance Committee ; the Secretaries of the Board.
- (d) The Trustees so appointed shall act under the instructions of the Directors, in all matters connected with their Trust ; and shall call in, sell, convert into money and vary the investments in their names, at such times, and in such manner, as the Directors shall require.
- (e) The Directors, with the concurrence in writing of the whole of the Trustees, shall have power to transfer to The London Missionary Society Corporation,* either permanently or temporarily, and on such terms as may from time to time be deemed desirable, any of the funds or property of the Society which they may deem it advisable thus to transfer.

XIV. POWER TO REVISE.—The foregoing Regulations shall be subject to such modification as the Members of the Society, at their Annual General Meeting, may from time to time think proper to make.

* NOTE.—The London Missionary Society Corporation was formed in 1899 specially for the purpose of removing the difficulties which frequently arise in many parts of the world in connection with the holding of real property by a Society which has no legal and permanent recognition. It is composed exclusively of Directors of the Society, who forfeit their membership as soon as, from any cause, they cease to be Directors of the Society. The Treasurer and Senior Foreign Secretary of the Society for the time being are ex-officio the Treasurer and Secretary respectively of the Corporation. It was incorporated under "The Companies Act of 1862," on the 24th day of October, 1899.

Funds of the Society.

It is requested that all Letters on the business of the Society be addressed to the respective Officers, and all remittances made to the HOME SECRETARY, at the OFFICES OF THE SOCIETY.

DONATIONS and SUBSCRIPTIONS for THE LONDON MISSIONARY SOCIETY are received by the TREASURER, W. H. SOMERVELL, ESQ., J.P.; the SECRETARIES, at the Offices of the Society; by the Bankers of the Society, the Bank of England; and by all the DIRECTORS of the SOCIETY.

Legacies.

 Property of every kind may be given by Will for religious or charitable purposes.

SUGGESTED FORM OF A BEQUEST OF MONEY TO THE SOCIETY.

"I bequeath the sum of £ sterling [if it is intended here insert 'free from duty'] to THE LONDON MISSIONARY SOCIETY, instituted in London in the year 1795, to be paid for the purposes of the said Society to the TREASURER or TREASURERS for the time being thereof, whose receipt, or the receipt of one of them, shall be a sufficient discharge for the same."

WHEN THE BEQUEST IS NOT IN MONEY, THE FOLLOWING FORM IS SUGGESTED :—

"I give unto THE LONDON MISSIONARY SOCIETY, instituted in London in the year 1795 [here insert description of the property included in the gift, and, if it is intended, add the words, 'free from duty'], and I direct the property hereby given to be conveyed or transferred to the TRUSTEES or TRUSTEE for the time being of the said Society, and dealt with for the purposes of the said Society."

The Directors' Survey of the Year

IN the review of the year of service just closed the one word which seems to be written over its history is "loyalty." That loyalty is apparent in the work which has been attempted throughout the Mission Fields by the whole staff of men and women, native as well as foreign, who have carried through their service of Christ and His Gospel under the ægis of the London Missionary Society. It has been no less apparent in the wonderful response of the thousands of workers at home who, in spite of the difficulties caused by industrial stagnation and by the pressure of other claims upon the service of the Church, have wonderfully sustained the cause of the Society within its home constituency. The Directors, therefore, would record their thanks to God for His goodness in giving to His servants inspiration and strength for the work of His Kingdom in so marked a measure. Every year of the Society's history has been marked by some signal proof of God's care, and in the year now closed He has renewed through the generosity of His people the "remembrance of His mercy." In our own land there are more people to-day than ever caring for the Society's work, and in the fields of missionary effort L.M.S. service is being carried on more extensively, more whole-heartedly and with more practical results than ever.

A Steady Advance

There has been no reaction from the development of missionary organisation within the churches supporting the Society's labours. It is more apparent than ever before that the preparatory work of education and organisation at home is bearing fruit. A greater number of young people is in evidence at the meetings of the Society, and the contributions from young people's organisations are steadily increasing. The intelligent appreciation of the aim of Christian Missions, now so marked in the work of the Sunday-schools, carries forward into adult life an abiding rather than a passing interest.

The Directors' Survey

One of the results of this development of recent years is the availability of more people for the home missionary service of the Church. The Directors of the Society believe that their experience in this matter is an encouragement to the whole Church, and that every advance that missionary work is able to chronicle evidences a deeper spiritual life on the part of the Church at large. One of the aims of the Society in its home policy is to extend present service from the earnest groups of people who very largely carry the burden, over to the whole membership and organisation of the Church. Missionaries and others who report upon their deputation experiences tell of much encouragement, although at the same time they report work left undone or inadequately attempted. The Directors would appeal to their supporters in the constituency to respond, as far as possible, to the suggestions for better equipment and organisation which are passed to them by the Society's missionaries and officers. For all the encouragement which is given to their missionaries whilst at home on furlough by means of fellowship with the churches, the Directors would thank the Ministers and other workers to whom they are indebted.

Fellowship and Efficiency

Of the forces at home that aim at uniting Christian men and women for effective service, few are more serviceable than the Summer School and Conference method used by Missionary Societies. The strength of a group of people working as a whole is far greater than the mere addition of the units comprising the group. United counsel, common prayer and general discussion invariably result in deeper consecration and improved methods of service. For this reason the Directors are glad to chronicle the renewed success of their group work. The proportion of young people present at the Annual Conference at Swanwick steadily increases, and many laymen, Ministers and young people return to their churches strengthened in soul and with deeper spiritual ideals for church life and work.

A school at Moffat for L.M.S. workers in Scotland, a conference at Llanwrtyd, general schools at Hindhead and at Weston, and a ministerial group gathering at Eltham College have all contributed to making the policy and problems of the Society better known. The Directors have also shared through their officers in the development of missionary interest within the Sunday-school, and by means of literature have contributed to the spread of missionary information amongst the children of the churches. The success of the John Williams' Lessons has given point to the enormous increase in missionary information imparted to Sunday-school scholars.

The Society's Workers

There has been no change in the staff of the Society's home workers during the year, and it has therefore been possible to carry steadily forward without hindrance the home organisation for which the Board of Directors is responsible. This steady pursuit of a settled aim without break year after year is of tremendous value to the whole constituency of the Society. Changes of policy, however necessary, tend to divert the attention of the Society's workers. In the visitation of the auxiliaries, in the personal approach to the ministry, in the work of the County Unions as well as by the free literature of the Society, addressed to all groups of workers, the Society's officers have steadily brought the plan and purpose of L.M.S. service abroad to the consideration of the whole constituency. The varying, and, in some cases, alarming difficulties caused by the vast amount of unemployment and bad trade have operated against the progress that might otherwise have been chronicled ; in parts of Wales, in the North of England and in purely rural areas these difficulties have been marked. Yet the spirit of the Society's friends has been particularly good, and the Directors are convinced that with more settled and hopeful conditions in the country at large their work will receive a great increase of support.

It is with regret that the Directors record the resignation of the Rev. W. G. Allan, who for fifteen years has been the trusted and loyal District Secretary of the L.M.S. for Scotland and Ireland. On his retirement the Directors wish to convey to him an expression of their sincere appreciation of his labours.

Amongst the outstanding items of voluntary work rendered to the Society at home, the Directors would mention those who are responsible for the Girls' Auxiliary Movement, and also that valuable body of women workers who attend at headquarters for the purpose of addressing envelopes and wrappers and the packing of magazines and literature throughout the year.

Public Propaganda

The year has been one in which, by means of exhibitions and cinema films, the attention of the general public has been drawn to missionary work. A measure of financial success has been accomplished through these agencies, but even more success has attended the presentation of the work of missions to people who are not touched by missionary meetings within the churches. A series of exhibitions in Scotland was amongst the most successful of those arranged during the year, but in various other places throughout England many hundreds of people have been brought by this means under instruction as stewards and general workers with abiding results for good. Literature and this form of publicity have much in common ; the possession of a film showing Khama and his people helps the circulation of so successful a book as that upon Khama, written by the Rev. J. C. Harris. The success of the China film, shown jointly with the S.P.G. and the C.M.S., has been a feature of the year's public propaganda. The Directors welcome the additions which have been made to missionary literature through the L.M.S. Literature Committee, as well as through that valuable auxiliary of missionary service, the United Council for Missionary Education.

The Conference of British Missionary Societies

The Directors would again draw attention to the work being done in behalf of missionary effort by the Conference of British Missionary Societies. The L.M.S. is represented in this work through its secretaries, and shares largely in this co-operative effort. Plans for the help and equipment of missionaries on furlough through the Missionary Board of Study, as well as the Home Base Committee, have been made effective during the year, and will be still further developed. Proposals for the holding of a United Missionary Campaign during a whole week in the diocese of Colchester in the month of May are well advanced, and it is hoped that this may become the basis of other united missionary campaigns in later days.

Through the Conference of British Missionary Societies advice has been offered to the British Government in connection with the remission of the Boxer Indemnity, and in the work of the Press Bureau much valuable propaganda has been done. The Directors hope that in this and in other activities of the Standing Committee of the Conference the whole cause of Christian Missions and the good of mankind have been definitely advanced.

Finance

During the year the Directors have suffered very considerable anxiety concerning the home income. At one or two periods in the year it appeared as though there was likely to be a very serious fall from the income of the previous year. A considerable rally, however, took place during the months of February and March, and the fear that there would be a large falling away from the previous year's income was modified. Once again the sense of God's care for His work has been renewed to the Directors. There has been obviously a determined effort on the part of many auxiliaries and individuals to maintain the Society's interests. This could only proceed from a heart interest on the part of many thousands of people, which provides its own promise of spiritual success in the work of the Society. The revival shown in the contributions from Wales is gratifying and noteworthy. The Directors would again express their sincere thanks to the churches in the Mission Field, and particularly to Samoa and other churches in the South Pacific for their generous gifts to the Society's work. The fact that the L.M.S. Churches in the Mission Field are raising for their work almost as much as is raised by the Home Constituency reveals the tremendous grip of the Gospel on the lives of our Christian brethren in the native churches. The Churches of Australasia have substantially maintained the contributions of the previous year, and the Directors hope for even better things in the years that are ahead, and would commend the work of the Australasian Committee to the sympathy and prayers of the Home Constituency.

The net result is that the Directors must report a deficiency of £27,618. It is obvious that so serious a deficiency menaces the work for which the Society is responsible, and must deepen the concern felt for the future. The Directors realise that the £75,000 which it is hoped will be forthcoming during the next three years' campaign of the Forward Movement Fund will help the situation; but to earmark that sum against prospective deficiencies is to miss the possibility of needed advance, and may simply postpone the operation of a policy of reduction. The constituency is urged, therefore, to help in securing the whole success of the Forward Movement appeal, and also to increase its support of the existing work of the Society.

The large amount of legacies received during the year has enabled the Directors to liquidate still further the Deficiencies Suspense Account for 1921-22, reducing that to £15,670. This application of legacies to the removal of past deficiencies is, though inevitable under existing conditions, deeply regretted by the Board.

India

The past year in India has been a period of somewhat unexpected quiet. It has also been generally a year of consolidation. The arrest of that unique figure, Mahatma Gandhi, seems to have coincided with a certain weariness on the part of the more extreme exponents of his propaganda. Instead of the outbreak which some people expected after his arrest, there has been a measure of relief and even a calm. No doubt the harvest, which for the greater part of the country has been good, has helped to remove one of the causes of unrest. It is a fortunate coincidence that in the Churches of the Mission this year has witnessed the inauguration of the new schemes for a larger Indian control of the work. At a time when the country generally was moving towards co-operation, and away from the non-co-operation campaign, it is a happy thing that Indian Christians should have received the most concrete proof of the desire of the Board and of the Missionaries to take full advantage of their knowledge and zeal, and to invite them to share in an extended measure of Indian control. The Indian Christian leaders have thrown themselves into the new arrangements with eagerness and humility, and the prospects of the new Church Councils are full of hope for the Churches of Christ connected with the L.M.S.

The strong church life which has been gathered into the circle of L.M.S. work in both South India and Travancore is proving itself to be a satisfactory basis for strong evangelistic expansion. The training of the men and women of these churches in Christian leadership, which is so vital a department of progressive missionary effort, has gone steadily forward. The magnificent response of so many devoted Indian Christians to the call of need from their own people for the saving message of Jesus Christ increases steadily the hope of days to come when the indigenous church will be able to meet the spiritual requirements of its own people. In the meantime the claims of these churches, and of the great districts in which L.M.S. work is being carried on, lies heavily upon the missionary staff and upon the Board. Great questions of missionary policy in matters of education and in connection with mass movements must be dealt with as speedily as possible.

In October a strong deputation from the Board, consisting of Mr. W. H. Somervell, Mr. Percy Bright, the Rev. David Walters, Mr. Lenwood and Mrs. Crane, left for India, and spent about three months in South India and another three months in North India in visiting the stations of the Society, meeting the Councils and inspecting the work. To anticipate their report, which will be in the hands of the Directors in a few weeks' time, would be a mistake, but it may be said that the deputation have been much impressed by the progress made, especially in the south, since the visit of the last deputation in 1913-14. The Deputation have been glad to find that everywhere opportunities are opening up for the fullest Christian service by the Missionaries and the Indian Christian Church. However mistaken Mahatma Gandhi has been in the political sphere, it is clear that by his life and speech he has turned the thoughts of hundreds of thousands of Indians to the story of Jesus.

China

In China during the past year the political situation has gone from bad to worse. The fact is, that there is no organised Government. The real power remains in the hands of the Provincial Military Governors and their hordes of unorganised, and often unpaid, soldiery. In the late spring and early summer serious fighting took place in the North, but throughout the country there has been intermittent and desultory civil war, and large companies of banditti have lived on the peaceful population. In the autumn the province of Honan was in such a disturbed state that many missionaries were captured by the banditti and held to ransom, and thousands of refugees fled to Hankow. In Kwantung there has been great unrest, and the great city of Canton has changed hands more than once. The result of all this unsettlement is that in effect there is no central authority at all. The Peking Government, which is constantly changing, is practically without funds.

But in spite of the almost universal turmoil the ordinary Chinese pursues his daily avocations, except when the district in which he lives is raided by unpaid soldiers. The situation is a striking tribute to the stability of the great Chinese race.

The spirit of unrest and unsettlement occasioned by the absence of any strong central authority has spread in other quarters. The close of the year has been marked by an outbreak of "strikes" in many Government schools and colleges throughout the country, and this has extended to some missionary educational institutions. Moreover, the work in many Government schools and colleges has been entirely disorganised, owing to the inability of the Government to pay salaries and maintain the work, and at the present time a state of chaos prevails in the Government educational institutions.

In the missionary world the outstanding event of the year has been the meeting in May in Shanghai of the National Christian Council, which marked a great development in the Chinese Church and in Chinese Christian leadership, and issued in the formation of a National Christian Council, on which the Chinese Christians and the missionaries have an equal representation. The report of this remarkable gathering is not yet available for public use, but when it is circulated the wonderful nature of the Christian advance in China will be at once appreciated, and the power of the Gospel of Jesus Christ to bring a message of hope and salvation to the Chinese people be made unmistakably apparent. Missionary enterprise enters upon a new and vastly more promising stage after the inauguration of the work of the National Christian Council.

The L.M.S. Advisory Council held its meetings in Kuling in August, and the Directors have dealt with the valuable report of the proceedings of the Council, which is more and more proving its usefulness, and earning the confidence both of the Missionaries and of the home Board.

The Directors rejoice to record that, in spite of the political unsettlement and civil war, the growth of the Church in China steadily continues, and they are thankful to God for the additions to the Church, especially from the student class, largely under the influence of Mr. Sherwood Eddy's evangelistic labours, which have been a distinctive feature of the year's work in most of the districts in which the missionaries of the Society are carrying on their labours.

The decision of the British Government to remit to China the balance of the money due to this country under the Boxer Indemnity, in order that it may be spent to the mutual advantage of China and Great Britain, should increase the spirit of good will so happily existent between these two countries. The whole matter is now under Government consideration, and education throughout

China is likely to benefit considerably as the result of the action of Great Britain.

Africa

South Africa has again been suffering from a prolonged drought, the effect of which is felt in many departments of the work. The scarcity of pasturage has caused a great fall in the value of cattle and a considerable rise in prices. There has been a falling-off in church contributions, and an inability to pay school fees, and such of the work as is financed from local funds has suffered severely. Early in the new year there have been good rains in many districts, and the prospects are more hopeful than they have been for some time.

The outstanding events in connection with the Society's work in South Africa was the death of Chief Khama on the 21st February. The Society has had no more striking figure on its roll of Church membership in the whole mission field than this great man. The Directors have put on record their appreciation of his life and character, and their sympathy with the Church and tribe in the great loss they have sustained in the home call of the great chief, whose life and Christian character have been such a potent influence amongst the Bamangwato for more than fifty years. Khama's death has called forth from many influential quarters tributes of personal esteem and reminiscences of Christian courtesy and heroism from those who have had the good fortune to know him personally and intimately.

In July the Southern Rhodesian Missionary Conference was held under the presidency of one of the Society's missionaries. A unique feature of the gathering was the hearty co-operation of the missionary bodies and the Government officials in planning for the better education and the social uplift of the native tribes. The erection of Christian standards for public and private life is one of the great needs of Africa to-day, and the events of the year have made it increasingly evident that civilisation is not enough. The need of Africa for Christ grows clearer with the years.

As the year closes, the work of the African Education Commission, organised by the Phelps Stokes Fund, has been issued, and contains a valuable survey of education in West, South and Equatorial Africa, which will be of great assistance to all Missionary Societies carrying on educational work in these areas. The Directors are glad to have been able to add two women educationalists to the Society's staff in South Africa without any additional expense to the Society's funds.

In Central Africa a new residential station has been established at Kafulwe, on an excellent site overlooking Lake Mweru, thus making provision for the Chiengi District, which hitherto has been worked from Mbereshi. An industrial experiment of much interest is being tried at Kambole. The Church membership throughout the Central Africa Mission continues to grow.

The spiritual and social needs of a people religious by nature, and largely untouched by the material inroads of Western civilisation, constitute a tremendous claim upon the sympathy and service of the Christian Church. The Central African Missionaries of the Society have to face a great religious task which calls for both insight and courage.

During the year the sleeping sickness regulations which have been in force for the last twelve years have been relaxed, and to a great extent removed, owing to the suppression of the disease in Northern Rhodesia. One result of the removal of the restrictions has been that many hundreds of people from the Mofwe villages between Mbereshi and Lake Mweru have returned to the site of their former villages on the banks of the Luapula. The Christians in these villages will, in future, be associated with the Churches of the Brethren's Mission, and in consequence the Church membership at Mbereshi shows a decline. These people, however, are not lost to the Kingdom of God.

Madagascar

The spiritual aftermath of the centenary celebrations is still being felt in a wonderful way amongst the Imerina Churches. The increase in Church membership of 3,445, which the Directors were able to record in their last Report, has been followed by a further addition of 3,745 to the membership of those Churches during the past year.

The two new missions in North Madagascar, the support of which has been promised by the Churches in Wales as their contribution to the celebration of the centenary, have been established, and the buildings at Imerimandroso in the Antsihanaka country are approaching completion. In July the new missionaries for the Mission at Mandritsara amongst the Tsimihety arrived at that station, and received a warm welcome, and have made an excellent start with the work. Owing to what the Directors hope may be only a temporary falling off in the extra contributions from the Welsh Churches, it has been impossible to proceed with the buildings at Mandritsara, and the Directors, with great regret, have been obliged to inform the Welsh Churches that, unless their promised additional contributions are made good, it will be necessary to withdraw from that station. It would be a calamity if the work there cannot be continued. It is full of promise, and is likely to bring large accessions to the Church if it can be carried on. The Directors earnestly hope that the Churches in Wales may be able to provide the promised necessary funds to carry on this work.

The Directors are glad to report that two new recruits have been secured for the Betsileo Mission, and will be proceeding to their stations later in the year.

South Seas

The shortage in the missionary staff in the South Pacific has been to some extent made good during the year. Mr. J. H. Waller has gone to Samoa to carry on the work of the printing press at Malua in place of Mr. Griffin, and early in 1923 Mr. Levett left for the Gilbert Islands to take charge of the printing press and other work at Beru.

In the Samoan Islands the work has gone on quietly during the year, and the Directors are glad to note the increasing responsibilities which the Samoan Church is taking upon itself. The Christian temper of the Church in Samoa and its steady zeal are matters for thanksgiving.

As the year closed the Directors were faced with a very difficult situation with regard to the John Williams, which has been carrying on its work in the South Pacific for thirty years. A quite unexpected demand was made for the expenditure of a large sum of money on further repairs to the ship, which had to be carried out before the authorities would allow her to leave Sydney for her voyage to the Gilbert Islands, due in May. With great regret the Directors have been obliged to give instructions to put the ship out of commission for a time, while the whole situation is considered afresh. This will involve great inconvenience to the work in the Gilbert Islands. Inquiries are in progress as to what alternative scheme of visitation is possible pending the decision of the Board as to the whole future of the ship work in the South Pacific. The Directors feel obliged to warn the constituency that the problem of the John Williams may bring considerable and unexpected claims upon the funds of the Society in the near future. The New Year's Offering Fund for the support of the ship will be more essential to the Society's work in the South Seas than ever.

Papua

The administration of the Papuan Mission by the Australasian Committee is still proving eminently satisfactory, and it is gratifying to record that the friends of the Society in Australia are taking an ever-increasing interest in this very promising Mission Field. The reports from Papua record the advance of the work in many directions, and the Directors are glad again to call attention to the excellent relations which exist between the Society and the Government of the Dependency. After a period of unprecedented depression in the copra trade the price of the product is again rising, and with it there is every hope that the contributions from Papua for the support of the work will prove satisfactory.

The development of the standards of Church life amongst the Papuan Christian community is a matter for grateful comment, and the far-reaching effect of the labours of the Society's missionaries for a needy people, and the defence of their human rights, constitute a service laid heavily upon the Society in the year under review. The Papuan workers of the L.M.S. loyally serve in their field of labour the cause of God and man.

The Church Triumphant

Again in the Mission Field the Directors have to record the passing to eternal service of the youth as well as of the veterans. It is but a few years ago since Arnold Hughes brought consecrated talent and vigour into missionary service. On his way home to his first furlough from Hong Kong he was translated. Arthur S. Hockett, a name well known to the Society's constituency for devoted work in Madagascar, returned home in the prospect of a happy retirement, and was taken into rest. James Richardson, whose name was associated with the period of trial in Madagascar, as well as with service in South Africa, was called home. Ebenezer Hawker, one of the saints of the Mission Field, beloved alike in South India and in Samoa, where he had greatly served God, passed suddenly away from his home in England. W. E. Clarke, the friend of R. L. Stevenson, and the succourer of Samoa in a day of need, lives fragrantly in memory. Mrs. Newell, Mrs. Hore and Mrs. Moss, Senr., names that recall the deeds of yesterday, are also to be added to this list of honour.

On the home side some of the renowned workers of the Society have gone from us, leaving places as yet unfilled. R. W. Henry, of Glasgow, a lifelong enthusiast, who was better known as representing the lay side of L.M.S. work than any other individual in the whole of Scotland; Thomas Grear, of Bishopsgate, an ex-Chairman of the Board and formerly one of the keenest Committeemen; "Davies of Llandilo," one of the stalwarts who literally stood for the L.M.S. in some parts of Wales, are outstanding names. The sudden death of R. J. Wells, the Secretary of the Congregational Union of England and Wales, took from the Board the chief personal link of connection between the Society and the Congregational Union of England and Wales. The Board is the poorer for these losses, but it remembers that their names and their service remain as an inspiration to their successors.

The Call to Missionary Service

Whilst some outstanding offers of missionary service have come to the Society during the year, notably that of a son of the Treasurer, one of the Mount Everest climbers, the whole question of missionary candidature, particularly trained theological candidates, is one calling for grave consideration. The Christian Church has not yet recovered from the ravages of the years of war, and the anticipated outburst of service on the part of Christian men who had passed through war experience has not been realised. The burden of this disappointment the Directors would seek to share with the Churches supporting the Society, asking that the challenge to high service for Jesus Christ in the Mission Field may be taken up by Ministers and leaders of work amongst young people, that the cause may not continue to suffer from the unreadiness of qualified men to give their lives to His service.

Conclusion

In the face of the anxieties and confusions of our day, the spring of all courage and hope lies in the heart's experience of God. Those who have prayed for the Society's missionaries and their work, whether by means of the valuable handbook of the Watchers' Prayer Union or by other methods, can recount the story of answered prayer and resultant blessing, both in their own lives and in the service of those for whom they pray. Answered prayer is the sure promise of future progress. The Directors trust that this report will be made a manual of suggestion for the prayers of the Society's supporters, so that the work of the days ahead will be crowned with the divine blessing and the unity of all our L.M.S. work and workers at home and abroad be secured. Difficulties serve only to drive the Christian to the Source of all power. The army of the faithful facing great odds will surely triumph if, in the words of Neesima, the great Japanese Christian, it "marches forward on its knees."

BEACONS IN THE NIGHT

"That ye may be the sons of God, without rebuke in the midst of a crooked and perverse nation, among whom ye shine as lights in the world; holding forth the word of life."

PHILIPPIANS II. 15-16

*"Then in such hours of your need,
Of your fainting dispirited race,*

Beacons of hope ye appear."

NORTH INDIA.

ALL the tidings from India agree that in 1922 there was everywhere a lull in the political scene. The contrast with 1921 was remarkable; for unrest there was a strange quiet; Gandhi was in prison, and India was pondering deeply upon the meaning of this, and how it stands related to what it had heard of Christ. It is not that the Indians show any new eagerness to welcome Christianity as a system of religion; but, as one missionary says, its "gaze is more intently fixed upon Jesus Christ, the Misunderstood One." In such an hour the missionaries and their fellow-workers have an opportunity to challenge India with their message of hope, reality and self-sacrifice. They are but a small band; no one in reading the reports should forget how few and scattered they are. But in every mission station there is a beacon of hope for a land, which must be saved by hope.

From every side there comes good news of the new Church Councils. It is abundantly clear that the directors were wise in being beforehand with their offer of self-government to the Indian Church. In the present temper of India that has proved to be one of those courageous actions which are the wisest statesmanship. The Conscience Clause has been put into operation in certain missionary schools. The general evidence is that it has made practically no difference in the attendance of the scholars at the religious teaching; but feeling is all the better because we have offered it.

During last winter the Deputation visited India. Its recommendations will not come into this report; but it is good to note that its visit is recalled with warm gratitude from all the stations. It is no small thing for the missionaries to have with them, if only for a short time, representatives of the Board; and apart altogether from the changes and readjustments which may follow, the visit of the Deputation brought encouragement and hope to many a lonely outpost, and there are spiritual gains which remain, though they cannot be entered in a report.

The story of the Calcutta Mission is set in two different scenes, in the city itself where the work is largely educational, and in the south villages where, along with the schools of a lower grade, the missionaries must provide oversight for the small, scattered communities of Christians. In neither scene was there any striking change in 1922. The records of the year show a continuance in the former ways, with marked encouragement for the missionaries in some of the many parts, which being few, they have to play.

In Calcutta the Institution examination results show that eighty-three boys passed the matriculation; the headmaster believes that there is as great a chance of developing character in the football field as in the class-room; and much has been made of athletics. A Scout Troop has been formed, and when a district near to the city was swept by the floods, the scouts were able to give timely service through the distribution of food and clothing. From the United Missionary Girls' High School there comes news of a successful attempt to reach the minds of the parents who were glad to be taken into counsel. "It isn't an easy thing to belong to a school that is international like ours," one girl from Orissa announced. Bengalis, Mongolians, Tamils, Syrian

Christians and others are there ; and it is a gain for Indian girls in their school-days to be reminded that each nation has some contribution to make to India and to the world. The matriculation class passed with much distinction out of their school life, in which they have been leaders both in Bible study and in class-work and in sports.

From the south villages Mr. Brown reports the loss by death of Babu Kalipada Sen, who was at one time a boarding master in the school, and latterly a leading member of the Church panchayat. At Gosaba it was the missionary's task to ordain to the ministry Mr. Soshi Bhusan Pramanick, the great-grandson of the first convert of the L.M.S. in these villages. For thirteen years he has lived at Gosaba a life of real service to a needy church.

Once more there come happy stories of the village boys' camp at Rarhati. It was a very hot and exhausting week ; but "It was well worth it. There was the dear companionship of our boys, the intimate glimpses of the life of a Moochi village close by, the fellowship of our new friends and visits to Baduria four miles away."

In the Hindu schools, both in the city and in the village progress is reported. The training given to the India teachers is bearing fruit. The school at Kalighat moved into its new buildings in July. The Kaurupukur Girls' School rose in numbers from fifty-nine to eighty-nine. The Domestic Training Scheme long planned has now come into being. "A typical one-roomed mud hut has been built and six girls of the school live there for a month at a time under a house-mother, and there they learn cooking, house-cleaning, husking rice and other useful employments. The children themselves suggested the name for the hut "The House of Peace." In the Kaurupukur Boys' School there has been a steady rise "in numbers and efficiency" ; and though the missionary reports criticism in some unenlightened quarters of the devotion to village interests and village hand-work, shown in the school, he vigorously defends these things ; he has always been opposed, he declares, "to the curse of education in Bengal, a mere book education."

The visits paid to the communities which bear their lonely witness, it is impossible to trace. There were many journeys by the missionaries during the year, with perils at times from flood. During one tour over 340 houses were visited by two women missionaries and more than 2,000 women heard the Gospel. Quite a number of women and children in the villages are being taught to read in their own homes; some can read the Bible and proudly display their Bibles given to them by Miss Hilda Johnson, who is not forgotten. It is a great thing to keep old scholars amid non-Christian surroundings in touch with the Master.

The Mission in the Murshidabad region has seen constitutional changes. "This is the last time," writes Dr. Stursberg, "that our annual report will have a section dealing with the work of the L.M.S. Bengal Union and Missionary Society. The work in the whole district will be now in the hands of the Church Missionary Council." Many glimpses of the activities of the missionaries are given in their reports. What it is like, for example, to visit a village school may be judged from this entry:

"The schools visited provided us with a lot of pleasure. The simple village children and the pundits gave us such a hearty welcome. The thatched mud schoolrooms with the very poor furniture; the simple little decorations; the efforts to get two chairs or stools that would not collapse when sat upon; the evident delight in the prizes which I was privileged to give to the children; the votes of thanks; the three cheers for Joyce Sahib; the smiles of women and girls who were peering in from all sorts of impossible corners; all made me feel how good the village life is and how entirely worth while it had all been, all the packing and unpacking, the planning and the thinking."

The Berhampore Girls' School has been turned into a Middle English School. English will now be taught in every class. "The Lower School is now held in the former building, and the Upper School in two of the rooms in our house, which make very good class-rooms. We started this January with fifteen children." The breadth of interest shown by the school may be judged by the purposes for which a collection was taken at Christmas—"The Russian Students' Relief Fund," and "The National Missionary Society."

BEACONS IN THE NIGHT

The hopeful work at Itore must not be forgotten; Mr. Stursberg writes: "The visit that we paid to Itore, where for a few days we lived in tents surrounded by the merry open-natured Bengali Christians is amongst the most memorable experiences of our lives, as missionaries in Bengal." The missionary says that he has done "only the ordinary things in the ordinary way"; such "ordinary" work will be seen again in Christian India.

"There is a sound of an awakening," writes Miss Mittra. "Our country is waking and advancing, wanting and striving to choose a place for itself. I think it is our work to awaken India by blending the gracious sound of the Father's love with that sound of national awakening. But by what method and in what manner this can be done is the special problem before the Christian workers of to-day."

"1922 will go down in the history of our Benares Mission and Church as the most trying year of our experience," Mr. J. C. Jackson writes, "we have borne sickness, deaths, resignations, persecutions and prosecutions." Over against these trials it must be recorded that in social and political life there has been a change for the better. The Church has entered more fully into its duty; and by the formation of the Benares Church Council, to which three members are elected from the Church, has moved a step in the direction of responsibility. The station among the Chamars at Bahoranpur is now worked from Benares. After Mr. Grant's departure, Mr. Jackson, thanks to the motor bicycle, was able to spend one day each week there; but the responsibility for the work throughout the week rested upon Philemon: "Very faithfully and efficiently he has set himself to serve the people." The work includes the supervision of Agricultural Co-operative Banks, the preaching of the Gospel, a school for the children of the depressed classes, and other services rendered to the poorest of the people.

The women's work in Benares was under the direction of Miss D. Sibree who was laid aside, however, by a serious illness in December, from which she is now recovering. There are five girls' schools with 238 scholars; four Bible-women among the Zenanas; and 136 homes were visited. In this sacred stronghold, Hinduism is still supreme. "During the rains there was a very important Hindu festival connected with the eclipse of the sun, to which thousands of pilgrims flocked from all parts of India. The Bible-women went to the station and to one of the big resting camps to sing and to sell books." In this way and other ways the little band take such opportunities as come to them to give their witness. One of these women has been at work in the city for thirty-eight years.

The chief educational centre of the mission is the High School, which stands well among the High Schools of the city. There is in connection with it a hostel for Christian and Hindu boys, but at present there are unfortunately no Christians in it. This school and all the schools of the United Provinces is now under an Indian Ministry of Education, responsible to a Council in which the majority are Indian representatives of the people. The Ministry decreed that religious teaching must be optional, and the Conscience Clause was put into force.

"All we can say to a boy is this," writes Mr. Newell, "'we want to give you the best we can to help you to be a good man. If you don't want to study the life and teaching of Christ you need not do so, but we have nothing better for you than this.'"

This policy is justified by the result. There has been no difference in the attendance at prayers in the Scripture period. . . . Mr. Ghosh, the principal, says that "some of us would have welcomed some sort of stir in the matter—anything to get us out of the old ruts."

The system of dividing the boys into different houses according to the district in which they live, has had good results. . . . 1922 was a steady year in the school with both hopes and disappointments, and perhaps an increasing understanding by the teachers of their high purpose.

The political atmosphere has been quiet throughout the year. "The contrast to 1921 which was a year of upheaval and ferment has been very marked," Mr. Theobald writes from Mirzapur. The year was marked here, as in other districts, by the formation of Councils to control all the work and the funds of the Mission. In the Benares and Mirzapur districts a good start has been made; but "the new Councils are a venture of faith" and "the anxious question is 'will the Indian Churches strive to rise to their increased responsibilities?'" To the High School Mr. Evans has been welcomed after his furlough; the number of boys in the English department is 257, in the vernacular 128. The introduction of the Conscience Clause has not led to any withdrawal, either in the boys' or in the girls' school. The National School, started as a rival during the fervour of non-co-operation, had but a brief existence; and the boys who left to join it returned.

From the Girls' School comes the report of steady work, but not so many girls come to the day school as the teachers would like; the province is not an enlightened one in the subject of women's education. It was a great shock to lose Pundit Narain Dass who died after a short illness; for twenty-six years he had worked in the school.

"The majority of our girls," Miss Stanyon writes, "when they get married leave our district and our mission, and we feel sad sometimes because of this; but when these girls marry into families connected with other mission churches . . . the Christian community in this land is helped by our school" . . .

To bring inspiration to the workers is one of the chief tasks before those who are responsible for the work among women in this district; to this end they have once more planned a conference, a "Swanwick" in Mirzapur, at which about thirty-five women were present.

The number of patients in the Kachwa Hospital and Dispensary steadily increase: and the policy of building private wards was continued. "Now a full row of them, seven in number, extends along the whole line of old indigo-vats. The last two are the free gift of our chief Kachwa zemindar in gratitude for an eye operation." The work done in the hospital during many years has had its effect upon the general attitude of the people. "They are, we think, gradually turning from blind acceptance of polytheism and idolatry to a comprehension and inward approval of the one personal God and Father, and to some acquiescence in a coming Kingdom of loving service and brotherhood. It is to this aspect of loving service that medical missions ever increasingly make a living appeal." In Kachwa, as in other parts of India, the imprisonment of Gandhi has led the thoughtful to ponder upon the mystery of vicarious suffering.

"A year ago," says Mr. McMillan, "riots and violence were spreading with dangerous rapidity. In India to-day an increasing number of non-co-operators are looking to Jesus Christ in the hope that He as a nationalist and as a preacher of non-violence, can show them a safer and a better way of helping their Motherland."

There is deep sympathy felt for Mr. and Mrs. Grant in the sad loss of their boy and their return in search of health to England. Naturally this has been a serious blow to the continuity of the work among the Chamars. "But on the other hand, it is a valuable reminder to them that they must look to their Guru and Saviour and not to any Sahib." The year has been a happy one in the Kachwa Church where a real interest in the work of the Church has been shown by the members.

From Gopiganj there comes the interesting account of the proposed plan for accepting Yisu Chelas, "learners of Christ."

"By accepting this name, the members proclaim that they accept Jesus Christ as their Guru. It is an attempt to help those who, for fear of social ostracism, hesitate to come out individually to receive baptism, and it guards, so Mr. Murphy claims, against the grave danger of admitting to the Christian fold thousands who through insufficient teaching might revert to Hinduism. These Chelas are adherents, not yet baptized Christians"

On the L.M.S. Sunday it was possible to send a cheque for £2 10s. 8d. towards the Society's deficiency.

The women workers find many ways open to them into the hearts of their sisters. Sometimes they are called to act as letter-writers; and sometimes they are able to help in the crisis of sorrow. One poor widow who had lost her baby, and thought that the Lord had not answered her prayer, was led to say: "I trusted Him in joy, and I will trust Him in sorrow." Such words are the most precious of rewards.

BEACONS IN THE NIGHT

“The age-long prejudice against any presentment of truth in a new light is rapidly disappearing,” writes Mr. Wills, of Almora. Men with overseas experience are preparing the minds of the younger generation to receive new truth. It is true that there is no evidence of a general hunger for truth and salvation: but the negative preparation has gone far; men are turning from their old servitude.

The atmosphere of the Bageshwar Mela this year was very different from last year; all was quiet and peaceful, and the “tract issued by the non-co-operators urged true non-violence, unselfish effort, and brotherly love in order to win Swarajya.” Under these conditions work became easier than in 1921. In the medical work the number of patients was 4,153 out, and 120 in-patients, and 78 minor operations were performed.

Much attention has been given to Bible teaching in the school, where, as in other centres, the Conscience Clause has made little difference. The resident manager of the Leper Asylum, Mr. Amos Miller, has had remarkable success with certain vegetable remedies concerning which the Government is making special enquiries.

The Council of the Churches had ten months of activity; and careful reports are sent by the President, from the three areas—Almora proper, Katyur and Danpur. In Dangoli and Phatgali there were, for example, seventeen adult baptisms, but the minister in charge, the Rev. Yunas Sinha, does not report favourably upon the spiritual condition of the Church.

In Muktesar, where there is a large Government Bacteriological Laboratory, nearly forty Christian boys and young men are employed; among them there was a religious awakening. Mention must not be omitted of the training classes for workers, held in Almora; and of the Bhot Mission, concerning which Mr. Rawat sends his report. He describes three converts, one a carpenter, who served two years in Mesopotamia; another a tailor who was for two years in Baghdad; and the third is training to work as a preacher in the villages. In one of his journeys Mr. Rawat met with an overseer of roads, an old student of his, and another man prominent in the life of Bhot. The overseer, whose attitude is characteristic of much in Indian thought, praised Christ as a Mahatma; but defended idolatry on the ground that man could not comprehend spiritual things at once. At once he was asked "Why, then, since idolatry had been practised for ages, had there been no advance?" But he would not condemn idolatry.

SOUTH INDIA.

Telugu Section.

In Mass Movement work among the outcastes, things move slowly, but in the report of 1922 one notable advance is reported. The outcastes are of two classes—the Malas and Madigas. Though outside the castes, these communities keep the spirit of caste, and Malas and Madigas have been continually at variance with each other even when they became Christians, but "there is now almost everywhere friendship between the Mala Christians and the Madigas." In one village near Cuddapah both the Mala Christians and the Madiga Christians came, one after another, with the request for their people to be received into Christianity

"All promising to live unitedly and at peace as one Christian congregation. This will prove a remarkable day in the history of the Cuddapah Mission"

The question of the participation of the Christians in the village festival has had to be considered by the Church Council.

"It is not a voluntary participation; none of our Christians believe in the village gods and goddesses, but they have from time immemorial been the village servants, and as such, had to perform certain minor services at the village festival and sacrifice. They are in the position of Naaman the Syrian, who asks pardon of God when he goes into the house of Rimmon, only they are under much greater compulsion by their heathen masters. The time has fully come for a new campaign for complete breaking away from the things of the past. It means loss of considerable increments to our people and persecution by the Shudras, but they are facing it bravely."

In the Cuddapah district the work of the Co-operative Banks has proceeded steadily; in the securing of land for the villagers the Mission has owed much both to the Revenue and the Forest services of the Government. In the Government of the Church it was felt that in the mission work as in political affairs the time had come to effect the co-operation of the Indian Christians; from this it is hoped that there will be awakened in the Indian mind a greater sense of responsibility. "Now on all administrative bodies the Indian vote can at any time even over-rule the European vote."

"After the hot weather when we were on tour," Miss Stringfellow writes, "we were travelling in a bullock cart from the main road to a village, when the bulls got untied and the cart went down. Neither the catechist, his wife and child, nor Miss Cooke were hurt, but I got badly bruised . . . We want bridges over all the rivers."

A number of baptisms among the caste people in Pulivendla were reported; and a new venture, the starting of a cottage industry for women. "Government has come to our help with six scholarships." The women's work of the district has its headquarters at Kamalapuram, a small and comparatively new station. The woman missionary is helped by fifteen Bible-women; and there are forty-six Elementary Schools. A vigorous evangelistic work is centred here; it is the aim of the missionary to get a voluntary worker in each village where there is no paid worker to hold weekly meetings for the women and children."

The station at Jammalamadugu started with the work of the hospital around which the Church and many schools of different grades have arisen in which over 2,000 children are taught. The hospital lost the services of Dr. T. T. Thomson who was transferred to Chikka Ballapura; he will leave many medical evangelists whom he has trained, and in the whole district there is a sincere gratitude for his sixteen years of service. Dr. Driver arrived from New Zealand to take his place. It has been "almost a record year," Dr. John Moses reports, "both for the number of out and in-patients, and the amount of money received from them in fees and thank-offerings." A new catechist began his work during the year; on the women's side he has been helped by girls from the Boarding Home. There is a close fellowship in service between the hospital workers and the other missionaries, and a wholesome Christian influence goes forth from the hospital into the town and district.

There were changes in the staff during the year. Miss Simmons left for Gooty after long service in Jammalamadugu; in the Boarding Home Mrs. Simon was welcomed to the staff. The work in the district is vast, and it is beyond the power of the workers to cope with the evangelistic need of the people. Of the need one picture in the report will speak:

“One evening, after a heavy day of touring in amongst several isolated villages, I was sitting outside the small school-house in a deck chair. Just as the last gleam of sunlight faded away a middle-aged Mohammedan man approached me. For some time we had a little conversation about various matters, and eventually he asked me to sell him a Gospel. This he took away home with great pleasure. That night after dinner the Christian women gathered together for their meeting. We were about to begin after the women had assembled, when, in the pitch darkness, a glimmer of a lantern shone. I concentrated my attention on the light for a few moments, and discovered that the bearer was coming in our direction. Presently the light revealed the face of the Mohammedan who had already visited me, and with him a company of men, women and children. This man was a veritable Andrew, for he brought not only his brethren but also many other friends. The spirit of God was present and working with us. The group with concentrated attention and interest remained on till the end. As a result of this gathering two or three bought Gospels next day.”

From Gooty also come encouraging notes from the log-book of the year, though it was considered one “of unrest and disorder.” In the district lies the most important work of the district, but the missionaries are conscious that they have to hurry over the ground during their tours. So great are the distances that one missionary for example in the earlier part of the year travelled over 1,000 miles. The establishment of the Church Council brought out the keenness of the Indian Church when it realized that responsibility was laid upon it. “We estimated that Gooty district ought to contribute Rs.2,500 but they have subscribed over Rs.3,100; and in addition Rs.1,500 for buildings. This means in all the equivalent of £300”; and it shows “what the Indian Church can do when it is relied on." Once more, as in previous years, it was sought to make the Harvest Festival a spiritual blessing. One such festival was held in Banganapalli, and was a revelation of what a Harvest Festival could be; a time when the presence of Christ Himself was intimately known. At one place, in the presence of 1,500, Christians and Hindus, a representation of "The Prodigal Son" was given.

The educational work centred in Gooty includes many institutions such as the United Telugu Seminary where the village catechists are trained to become the pastors of the future. In the High School there are 245 pupils, of whom seventy-three are Christians. A new hostel has been opened in connection with the Normal and Training School. Mr. F. Maltus Smith has joined the staff on the educational side. During the year a large number from the Training School and Boarding Home were received by confession into the fellowship of the Church. The Women's Bible Training is now in the hands of Miss Simmons who writes:

"Our chief subjects of study are the Old and New Testaments, some books on Hinduism and Mohammedanism, teaching from pictures as adapted to the needs of Hindu homes, and Gospel stories told in song and verse, accompanied by simple action."

The sixteen women in the class had their little children with them; to help them an outhouse was turned into a creche. Practical work in Gooty town is done by these Bible-students, and it is hoped to arrange for them short evangelistic tours in the district.

Anantapur is an important Government centre. There is a Girls' Boarding Home, Women's Compound and a Higher Elementary Girls' School in the town. At Pamidi there is a Higher Elementary School for boys. The evangelistic work around the city, owing to the shortage of staff, has been linked with that of Gooty. The Church in the city is "self-supporting, and has carried on its work well." From Pamidi the death of Mr. C. Moses under sad conditions is reported. He was a Madiga and suffered much because of the caste feeling in the town. "Mr. Moses was a teacher in a Government Board School, but his heart was set on being a worker for Christ. He sacrificed a good salary for a small living allowance. In 1921 he was appointed to the Pamidi pastorate. He needed to learn many lessons which he could only learn by experience, but he was full of activity and earnestness. There was no keeping him idle."

From Kadiri which was handed over to the Ceylon and India General Mission in 1922 comes news that the work is being carried on well.

Kanarese Section.

"The great obstacle to our work in the Bellary District," Mr. Lester reports, "is the uncertainty of the rainfall." The people derive their support from the land; and under the uncertain conditions of climate the problem of poverty is always before the missionaries. Small groups are baptized, but before a strong Church can be built up, the congregation is scattered. There was an example of this in Kautalam. It was hoped that the coming over of the people in that village was a beginning of a mass movement. But the crops of the last season were a failure; the people had to emigrate to a place where the weather is less fickle. That emigration means the deferment of many hopes. The Rev. H. Sumitra, B.A., pastor of the Bellary Kanarese Church, is the Secretary of the District Church Council. He has the confidence and respect of all his brethren and under his guidance it is believed that the Church Council will face bravely and wisely the difficulties of these early days.

The Principal of the Wardlaw High School, Bellary, reports progress. There are 443 boys in the school, of whom sixty-five are Christians.

There are six Bible-women at work in Bellary, but more voluntary service might be given by the members of the Church. Mrs. Sumitra was appointed Headmistress of the Anglo-Kanarese Boarding School, which under her leadership has had a good year. News continues to come of the useful work being done by old pupils.

The city of Bangalore is at once a centre of important educational work, and the headquarters of a considerable evangelistic work in the district. "Ten tours have been carried out by the band of three or four preachers. A large number of Gospels and tracts have been sold and every preaching to-day is followed by a sale of Christian literature" under the guidance of a new pastorate the Bangalore Church, after a period of difficulty, is facing its responsibility with more unity and fresh hope. The educational work of the district was largely in the hands of Mr. Paul Daniel, of whose influence Mr. Wilkins speaks most warmly. Mention must be made of the Boy Scouts; an investiture was held in the Church when a number of Scouts took the Scout Promise.

"Two camps were held during the year. In October, thirteen of the scouts travelled to Mysore, fraternised with a Wesleyan troop, and took part in a scouts' rally at which the Maharajah was present."

The number on the roll in the Boys' Collegiate High School was 711; thanks to the partnership between Mr. Gunstone and Mr. Cox, it became possible to hold a weekly class for the training of the Christian teachers. "These times have been memorable with us, both for the regularity and eagerness with which the teachers attended and for the spirit of comradeship and fellowship." In the teaching of the Bible to the boys the stimulus of those weekly meetings has been felt; and in their teaching of the highest things the two missionaries record this year to have been their best. Indeed, throughout the range of its work, the year was one marked by a fine spirit.

The Girls' High School is attended by day girls and by sixty-six Christian girls of the Boarding Home; there are in all 186 students, and of the staff of sixteen, nine are Christians.

Among the services rendered by the L.M.S. in Bangalore, the work of the Rev. Godfrey Phillips must be put on record. The Union Theological College, of which he is a Professor, has a remarkable place in the South Indian Church. It has been found possible for the college in addition to its other work to give special short courses to men with sufficient general education to profit by them. In the latter part of the year Mr. Phillips was able to render a remarkable service in Malabar; the Church in that province was in grave need of guidance, and Mr. and Mrs. Phillips at the request of the South India United Church visited Calicut, and under their influence the Church Council faced a crisis in its life in a finely Christian spirit.

In Chikka Ballapura, thirty miles from Bangalore, the work of the L.M.S. is evangelistic and medical. Mr. Hickling has once more followed his own admirable method of evangelism. "We have been during the year to do musical preaching fourteen times with very gratifying results." The work at the fairs has been as successful as ever.

"One of the preachers thought he would try at the close of his address to get his audience to pray. When he first tried I was anxious, but again and again he tried, ever more successfully, till he would have quite thirty genuine Kanarese farmers kneeling with him, and saying in a loud voice, 'Lord Jesus, I am a sinner.' 'Lord Jesus, forgive my sin.' 'Lord Jesus, give me the Refuge of Thy Feet.' To those who know the Kanarese people this will seem wonderful. To myself it is such a thing as I had not expected to see in my time. There were three big Mahomedans on the last occasion."

The Hospital has had the electric light and power pumping station installed in memory of Dr. John Winterbotham. The medical work under Dr. Thomson and Miss V. Gillman-Jones, Nursing Superintendent, exercises a splendid influence over the whole district. Miss Gillman-Jones hopes if she can find time to give health talks in the villages, a form of service sadly needed in India . . . During the year there were a number of leper patients who on the whole are doing well . . . Dr. Thomson has done many operations for cataract and made the blind to see. The in-patients numbered 723, and out-patients 8,157. The figures of a hospital like this speak of an ever-widening circle of gracious influence.

In Madras the Society has its share in the Christian College, in which Mr. Gordon Matthews acts as Class Professor of the first year students, 160 in all, fresh from school. Of the students in the College 25% are Christian, a large proportion when the total number of Christians in South India is remembered. The proposal to introduce a Conscience Clause was defeated in the Legislative Council by a large majority ; many of the speakers were old students, and the vote may be regarded, Mr. Matthews holds, as an affectionate vote of confidence in the College. The political hopes of India are reflected in the School.

“ Our students are looking on at the working of the first instalment of self-government under the Montague scheme ; they are looking on with vague, almost painful anxiety, to see whether their countrymen will rise to the new responsibilities or be found wanting. They see that it is more than intellect that is needed ; and like the rest of the troubled world to-day, they are coming to realize that there is apparently no other way to solve life's problems, individual, national and international, but by the spirit and power of Jesus.”

The other representative of the L.M.S. in Madras is Miss Varley, in the Bentinck High School, which, in old-fashioned buildings, is doing an excellent work.

On his return to Salem after seven years, Mr. Witney is able to compare the two pictures. “ In 1916, as now, there were great prospects of advance in the Western portion of the district, but lack of funds and staff has prevented our taking advantage of them. Yet progress has taken place. The Church has grown in its independence and stability. It has entered now the path of service for others by taking over from the Mission the care of the Ammapet School. The district work is full of promise.

“ In October it was my great joy,” Mr. Witney writes, “ in Mangalam to admit seventeen people to communion for the first time, and now, as there are over ten, it will be possible to organize them into a regular Church with their deacons, and unite them formally with the local Church Council. We hope that this will be done in 1923, when the Church Council meets. They have always been eager to bring in their relatives, and it is in seconding their efforts that we hope to make progress in the Tiruchangode Taluq. They are still meeting in the old heathen temple, which is used as a school in the day. (Mariamman, its former occupant, the goddess of smallpox, having long since departed.) But this temple, large enough for the individual devotions of Hinduism, is far too small for the congregational worship of Christians.”

There are in Salem itself many social and educational agencies ; one of them it is proposed to turn into a simple Agricultural Middle School for girls.

The breakdown in health of Mr. Brough has made it necessary to transfer Mr. Witney to Erode ; and till the return from furlough of Mr. Hatch the care of Salem is in the hands of Mr. Hickling, who unites this charge with that of Chikka Ballapura.

In Hosur within the same district, Mr. and Mrs. Marler have settled; Mr. Marler has entered upon his most important work in connection with the Telugu Literary Mission, in which fifteen Missions are uniting. In addition to translation, it will be part of his task to assist in providing books for the Christian Church.

“ Few of our Christian workers, unless they know English, possess more than a dozen books, whilst probably the majority of village Christians, even though they can read, own no books beside their Bible and hymn-book, unless it be one or two small tracts.”

Books are also needed for Hindus. A great opportunity it is to help in winning India for Christ through the printed page.

Writing his report on New Year's Day, from the Shevaroy Hills, at the foot of which Salem lies, the missionary saw the range of his task :

“ As far as the eye can reach on all sides of the range lies the district for which the L.M.S. missionaries in Salem are responsible. It is not the whole of the Salem District, for there are other missions to the north and south of us, but to see our portion of it makes one realize the immensity of the task and the smallness of the body which is attempting it. The whole district contains over two million people and the L.M.S. is responsible for the evangelization of over one and a half million of them.”

Erode is the centre of a mass movement area, from which comes much cheering news. We have relations with 140 pariah villages or hamlets; in them there are two classes of pariahs: the “ white bangle ” people may be said to have already accepted Christianity, in a general way, and the “ green bangle ” people are very favourable to it. There are now between 11,00 and 12,000 Christians in the district, and from the “ green bangle ” class it is hoped that a similar number may be added in the next five years. The all-important question, therefore, is the provision of teachers and schools for these communities. In eighty-three villages there are schools, and well-organized Christian Churches. But there are thirty-six hamlets with no school at all, though there are Christians living in them. The Government of the province has given valuable help by granting nearly 4,000 acres of forest and land for distribution among the members of the depressed classes. But the very rapidity of the movement makes a serious problem for the mission.

Three pastors were ordained during the year, and there are now seven pastors and seven unordained acting pastors. There are sixty-five C.E. Societies and eighty village Sunday Schools. It will be seen how important is the educational and medical work at the head station. The equipment of the Hospital, thanks to the grants from the Directors and from the Government, has been improved during the year; instead, e.g., of the brass pot which had formerly to boil everything, there is now a modern steam sterilizer. Dr. Hilda Pollard has a concern to do more medical work through visiting the district; and she hopes to tour the villages during the coming year, and to start dispensaries in one or two of the bigger villages. The fact that there were 435 in-patients and 145 operations will show the scope of the ministry which this Hospital exercises in Erode. The Schools, both High and Elementary, and the Boarding Home, have been doing their work, sometimes against heavy odds. On the women's side, Miss K. D. Browne reports encouraging results from village schools; though in them the majority of the pupils are still boys. In several of these little schools there are now caste boys, sons of the farmers owning the land on which the Panchamas live, learning from the outcaste teacher in the same building as the Panchama boys. This would have been an unthought-of thing a few years ago. Sixty-two of these village schools were given a Government efficiency grant this last year. There are over 400 caste girls studying in our schools in Erode, and in different parts of the district.

"Along with the devotion of faith," Mr. Ralph Robertson writes from Coimbatore, "what is most urgently needed in missionary service to-day is brains and imagination." The freshness in method adopted by the missionary may be judged from his dealing with the crowds of a local festival.

BEACONS IN THE NIGHT

“We snatch the chance again to get the attention of the crowd with a Christian lyric, followed by an address or some parabolic teaching such as the tying of one’s hands first with thin twine that can be easily broken, then with thicker string, and finally with rope, to enforce the lesson of the increasing power of sin. Or we may weigh out before the eyes of the crowd small things in a chemist’s pair of scales, or light a match and soften the wax and press the seal right in front of them. The East is as much impressed to-day by story and acted parable as in Biblical times.”

From Coimbatore, as from all parts of India, comes news of a readiness to listen to the message of Jesus, but “Christianity as a religion does not appeal to the masses.” The task of changing the Western form into something more suited to Indian genius is a task which only an Indian can undertake. Of the willingness to hear about Christ, Dr. Stanley Jones reports after a visit to a centre in town:

“I have been there three times and these were by far the best we have had. The town hall, which seats 700, was full for six nights; sometimes many were standing, but the size of the audience was not the finest thing; it was the sympathy, interest and response. The leading non-Brahman arose and said publicly: ‘The Vedas are a dead sea. The Bible has been to me the solace of my sorrow, my power in temptation, and the guide of my life.’ Many on the last night joined with me in the prayer of confession and surrender. A Bible class had been formed. A leading Brahman non-cooperator had a reception for us, and he himself ate with us. He told me that he had made Christ King in his heart.”

There are many institutions at the head station, each of which has had its part in the total impact. Elementary School, a Preparation Class for Bible-women, Girl Guides, Boy Scouts, a Book Depot and others. The large Boys’ High School reports a year of efficient work. Mr. Robertson, who took a Scripture Class in the sixth form, had a sympathetic hearing, and found his class able to grasp the teaching and its bearing upon their lives. It is interesting to note that the top place in the Scripture Examination of the Higher Forms was taken by Hindu pupils.

Except for three months in the middle of the year, Miss Grierson was working single-handed in the direction of the women’s work in Coimbatore. “In the town it has been a year of much sickness; smallpox and plague in turn have been raging, and the deaths among Hindus and Christians have been many. Nevertheless, the Schools and Sunday Schools have been carried on as regularly as possible." The Women's Christian Association has held weekly Bible-circle and evangelistic meetings which have aroused great interest; and there is now a Temperance Branch.

Travancore.

In this native state, shut in between the mountains and the sea, the work of the L.M.S. is deeply rooted; steady progress has been made in recent years, but, though one-quarter of the population is Christian, there is much work still to be undertaken by the Church, to which now great powers are committed. There are six District Councils, each grouped round one of the head stations.

From Quilon and Attingal the most northerly stations, news comes that the Church at Manyakala has been completed. This congregation has grown from a few families of the lowest caste to 630 persons, and it is claimed as a striking example of the power of Christ to uplift the degraded. A new congregation of sixty-eight persons was started in the Quilon District and in the Attingal District another was formed when sixty-three Shanars accepted Christianity. It is lamentable that in one large village where the L.M.S. Church has a congregation of 600 persons, there are four sections of the Syrian Church and six foreign missions. The total community in connection with the L.M.S. is now 7,531 in Quilon and 1,700 in Attingal.

From Trivandrum Mr. C. G. Marshall, along with the record of the School of Divinity, sends a serious plea for a higher level of Christian life in the Churches. "The supply of students will not improve till the Churches improve; and we fear the Churches are not improving in spirituality and Christian character." The missionaries, he points out, are of necessity absorbed in office management and general inspection; the pastors are struggling to instruct and inspire their congregations, but they are not well equipped. Efforts must be made "to arouse, quicken and evangelize our Church." To that end measures were proposed at the meeting of the Mission Council with the Deputation . . . In the School itself, plans have been passed for adapting to their present use the buildings to which the School removed in 1921. "On the whole, the present students," the principal writes, "are a better lot than those who left us in March. But they are not the sort we want eventually to get."

From Pareychaley comes the record of a busy year with nothing to report outside the usual routine. The District Council is settling down to its work and through the diversion of some petitions to the Circle Councils, it has been able to give more time to the wider aspects of the work. Visits to the Sunday Schools from Mr. and Mrs. Annett are recorded; and at an ordination service during the visit of the Deputation the charges to the pastor and the people were given by the Rev. David Walters and Mr. Bright. In this district, as in Quilon, there is evident need for comity between missionary societies. Where the field is so vast, there does not appear to be any need for societies to draw off Christians from existing missions, and the evil is not lessened when the inducements are more economic than doctrinal.

The report from Neyoor begins with good news of the Council.

"It is pleasing to be able to record at the close of the year a great change in the temper and value of our District Council. It is a change so decisive and unmistakable that the word 'conversion' is not too strong to describe it, and we believe it marks the passing from an awkward and turbulent adolescence to a proper and responsible competence."

Another token of encouragement comes with the news that the local Churches are showing a willingness to take the responsibility for building, which has been laid upon them under the new order.

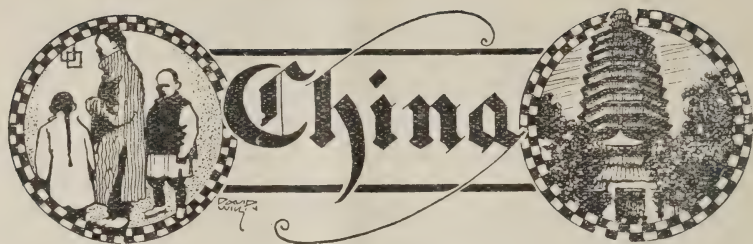

Two good buildings have been completed and one is quite a model for a village church. At the head station, too, there have been encouragements. To the Girls' School there has been added a new Boarding Home, which will accommodate those who have been compelled to walk five or six miles to school. No work promises more for the common life of the Church.

The Neyoor Hospital holds still the proud position of being the largest Medical Mission in the world. The story for the year is one of strenuous toil. "Many a doctor, if he only knew what he was missing, would take the first boat to Neyoor." It is seriously understaffed. Three Branch Hospitals were closed for lack of medical evangelists; and though occasional relief came from visitors, there has been no European nurse on the station. There is hope of relief soon; Dr. Howard Somervell is to join the staff, and Miss Hacker will take up the position of Nursing Superintendent. What the present shortage on the staff means can be judged from Dr. Pugh's words:

"During the last few months frequently as many as forty major operations have at one time been waiting to be done in our central Hospital. These patients often have to wait many weeks in great pain for their turn to come. When I came to India in 1912 . . . there were three European doctors and a nurse."

Nagercoil is the centre of the higher education undertaken by the L.M.S. The Scott College, the only college remaining under L.M.S. management, and the two Christian High Schools with their 700 boys and 255 girls, serve the whole of South Travancore. There are other schools and hostels in the city, and a beautiful church which will hold 2,000 worshippers. The year, in all the departments, has been a year of steady and uneventful work. In the absence of the Principal (Rev. G. Parker) on furlough, the College was in the charge of the Rev. R. H. Eastaff. It is reported with great sorrow that Mr. M. P. Samuel, Lecturer in Logic and English, passed away after a very short illness. The College numbers are 174; of whom 29 are Christians, 142 Hindus and 3 Mohammedans; in the new hostel are representatives of seven different communities, living together as a united family. In the Scott High School there are 437 Christians and 159 non-Christian scholars, and of the twenty-nine teachers, twenty-five are Christian. Changes have been planned with a view to making the school of greater practical service in training boys for the professions in which they may earn their livelihood. An increased interest, both in the work of the school and its play, is reported. The Mission Press has provided employment for sixteen men, but owing to the high prices of paper, many religious publications have been discontinued. There is a great need for first-class Tamil religious literature.

"In Thy light we shall see light."

A SMALL group of women and men from a remote country are set in the heart of a land in which they stand as bearers of a great and redeeming Light. The Chinese have had their candles, sufficient, as it seemed, for them to see a little way ahead, but the candles are going out; and they need the strong searchlight of Christ, the beacon of eternity, if they are to see their way. And it is given to this little band in such a day to let the Light be flashed by which this great nation may see the divine way, by which it is now called in the fulness of time, to serve the will of God.

There is a China changing, and a China unchanged; the Western civilization has come, but the old order remains in the villages. Modern industrialism and the customs which Abraham and Confucius knew are found side by side. The political Government was never more chaotic than in 1922; everywhere soldiers over-ran the country, and soldiers unpaid in China soon become bandits. In the Army of General Feng there is indeed an example of a discipline and a temper based upon definite Christian faith. But it remains true that the Chinese are not a military people, and their deep desire is for peace.

The political scene is in almost incredible confusion; yet the people carry on; and the thoughtful have not lost hope that if the leaders of commerce and the students would take a leading place boldly, they might still bring order out of chaos.

If the progress of Christianity is studied, mention must be made of the emergence of the Chinese Church at the Shanghai Conference. This may well prove a day of abiding significance in the spiritual history of China. There is now a Chinese Church. But at the same time the task of making this effective locally is one which each missionary has to face. And there are many hindrances. In the colleges and schools there is a Student Christian Movement, and an anti-Christian Movement; there is a new China among the intellectuals, some of whom are Christians, but more either hostile or indifferent. The student world of China was visited by Dr. Sherwood Eddy, but it was also under the instruction of Dr. Bertrand Russell!

In the reports from this land there is evident the spirit of brave and joyful women and men, happy in their lot, and grateful to God for putting them in China and nowhere else—in these years of opportunity—and at no other time.

SOUTH CHINA.

Hong Kong is a British Colony, and for this reason had a stability in its Government, not enjoyed by the rest of South China. But it had in 1922 its own troubles which disturbed the ordered life of the community. The seamen's strike was a serious matter, the effects of which were felt throughout the colony; labour unrest and many other strikes followed. In one of these Mr. Wells was invited to be arbitrator, and his experiences confirmed his opinion that the Chinese are in many respects a reasonable people. During 1922 the legislature, largely because of the efforts of the missionaries, dealt with the Muitsai evil, and "now one of the greatest of the social problems with which we are confronted is that of helping the newly-liberated Mutsais. Worse than useless will it be to pull down the old system without constructing something better." There is a great opportunity for those who are willing to take up educational work for the children of the colony.

The compound during the year was the scene of building operations; some former missionary residences were removed in preparation for the erection of the new Church building. This marks a new stage in the progress of the Church in China. The building is to be the property of the United Church, i.e., of the Christian Church in China. The story of the past leads Dr. Pearce to rejoice in the grace of patient continuance which dwells in the leaders. "Christian privileges beautify and glorify racial virtues in this people, among them the faculty of steadfastness." Good news comes of Church work in Hong Kong; thorough preparations were made for the New Year's Evangelistic Campaign, among them weekly training classes for women. The missionary zeal of the Chinese in the colony finds an outlet in their work in the new territories. In the Churches within that area there are 500 baptized members; and their sturdy character may be judged from such a note as this:

"Tsun Wari has a particularly good Church. The preacher left some months ago on account of ill-health, but the people have carried on their work faithfully and earnestly . . . When there is no preacher visiting the Church, the people themselves carry on the service."

The staff in the new territories at present consists of one superintending missionary, one Chinese superintending evangelist, four preachers, four Bible-women, one travelling evangelist.

The work in the Victoria Gaol must be left now for the most part to Chinese leaders; but Mr. Pearce has the sacred memory that for more than thirty years he had given his loving service to those who were in prison. Morrison Hall, the Society's University Hostel, has had its full complement of students, and there has been a good hostel spirit among a growing number of Christian students.

There has been an advance in the hospital. The men nurses show a steady improvement in their work. Much has been done in the hospital by Christian patients as well as by the workers, to preach the Good News of Christ. At one time the pastor of a church, under treatment for the eyes, found a fine opportunity in the hospital ward, when they listened to him not as a patient but as a fellow-sufferer. This led to his appointment as hospital evangelist. "There is a tremendous opportunity for Mission Hospitals in Hongkong, to take the lead in the training of Chinese nurses." Progress has been made in the Nursing Department of the Women's and Children's Hospitals. "During the last few years there have been great changes in the lives of Chinese young women, due to Christianity and education. The majority of the Chinese nurses in training have no thought of marriage; in fact many of them have refused to be married." These women in their newly-won freedom need the very best that a Christian institution can give them. A class has been started under Mrs. Gordon Phillips for training the nurses in English. Eleven new nurses have been taken on for training.

When the Ying Wa School reassembled in the autumn, it received the sad news of the death of Arnold Hughes, its Principal. He was on his way to England when he died. In a few years in the colony he had accomplished a lasting work, and left behind him a noble tradition of devotion to the Chinese boys; he had sought, not in vain, to carry into China the best that he had known in an English school; and he was willing to spend and be spent in that service. The school was under Mr. Phillips, of Amoy, during the latter part of the year. Good work is reported from schoolroom and playground. There were in the third term 192 boys on the roll of whom twenty-four were boarders. New and severe demands were made by the educational authorities and met bravely by the authorities of the school. They could not allow a school for which Arnold Hughes gave his life to be closed.

"As I write this report," says Mr. Baxter, of Canton, "South China is passing through its sixth change of Government since the revolution." One sad feature of the new régime is a reaction against the moral reformation which had begun with much enthusiasm. Gambling spread once more by leaps and bounds; the gambling houses were reopened for the sake of the revenue which they brought, for soldiers in China will not fight unless they are paid. The people in the country districts suffered through the marching to and fro of the troops; their line of march was a scene of desolation. The hard facts of their political distress are compelling the Chinese to ask, "What is wrong with us?" "We have to go back to Jesus." One Chinese preacher said,

"Take our principles absolutely from Him, and stand by them with no compromise, saying clearly 'this is right,' or

'that is wrong,' and be willing to live and fight and die for what is right. There is no other way to save China."

Political unsettlement has delayed the building plans of the Canton Church which had a busy and prosperous year. In connection with the Young People's Society there was an interesting retreat last October. A party of twenty or so went to the Golden Mountain Monastery near Canton for a week-end. The priests raised no objection to the singing of Christian hymns; and these arose while the Buddhas looked on from the ancient temple.

The Church at Fatshan is happy in its pastor, and is admirably organized. Its school is in a healthy state, and in general the spirit of fellowship is manifest on every hand within the Church. The Canton Christian College welcomed Mr. Baxter back from furlough; and Mrs. Baxter took up her charge of the work among the women of the campus and the villages. The College has reorganized its methods of administration, and the new plan which gives the final control to a group of workers is likely to work well. Mr. Baxter resumed the general oversight of the religious work in the College. During the year he gave a course of addresses at the Staff Fellowship on "The Chinese Mind in Relation to Christianity."

In December, Dr. Sherwood Eddy visited Canton, and held two meetings for the students. A total of 114 stood up to signify their acceptance of Christ as Lord of their life, and of these over 100 were students. The others were teachers and their relatives. Many have had to face real opposition in their homes; but they have not turned back. On the first Sunday in January forty-two were admitted to membership in the L.M.S. Church. The service was an inspiring experience.

"The students who are to graduate from the College in 1923," writes Mr. Baxter, "are a fine group. There are thirteen of them, one a woman, and all are Christians." No mention of the College is complete without some reference to the Student Christian Association which is responsible for much active service, both in the city and the villages; "teams are sent out, for example, into the villages to teach children games, and Bible and other moral stories are told them."

BEACONS IN THE NIGHT

For the workers in Poklo, Mr. and Mrs. Cousins, there will be deep sympathy from all who remember the disturbed condition of South China ; if they suffer in the cities, it can be imagined under what hardships the lonely workers in a country-town carry on their work.

Fukien.*

Amoy is the centre where most has been done to develop a self-supporting Church. Here on the island of Kulangau, are the L.M.S. houses, the Boys' Industrial School with three hundred scholars, and the Union Institutions in which the L.M.S. is partner, as well as the splendid Chinese Church building.

On the mainland is the city of Amoy, and away to the north-west is Changchowfu, where are churches, hospital and school, though the hospital is closed for lack of a doctor to succeed Dr. Fahmy.

Eastward is Hweian, a centre of work among those who, though poor in this world's goods, have proved to be rich in faith and fruitful of good works. From this district thousands go to the Straits Settlements, and some carry the Gospel light there.

The town of Tingchow is a name which stands as a reminder of the missionary activity of the Chinese Church. There the Amoy Churches themselves founded and carried forward the work till the L.M.S. was able to come to their assistance.

"In all the world," declares a local proverb, "there is no place like Fukien." There are four districts in Fukien: Amoy, Changchow, Hweian and Tingchow. Amoy and Changchow are more touched by modern movements; but everywhere the new spirit makes itself felt. From all the districts come reports of the serious state of the province during 1922.

"The province has again been the plaything of reckless political adventurers, to the sorrow of the helpless population."

Armies of ill-trained soldiers and of bandits have carried fear everywhere. "The Chinese word for warfare is used also in the sense of 'fearful,' and although these armies seldom fight with enough vigour to cause much alarm, yet their presence means a fearful time for the people."

* For this area the compiler of the report has had the very great advantage of a summary provided by Mr. E. Hughes. He has gone through the many reports and given the gist of them. But even his summary has to be condensed to come within our limits.

Social.

Though gambling and the opium traffic are in full swing it is to be noted that the Church in this district is almost entirely clean. Its members no longer grow opium. Poverty is a marked feature of village life; and paper knowledge of the West has brought about the innovation of strikes. The popularization of Westernism appears also from an impression given by Miss Wheeler on her return to Changchow after two years' absence. "She left an old-time city and returned to find the city walls gone, broad roads with bicycles, theatres, cinemas." Women, too, have emerged into the public eye. At the same time bound feet and seclusion are referred to as the rule among women in one county city, while Miss Keen came across a case of aggravated devil possession—200 dollars were spent by the family to get the devil exorcised, and in the process the devil hid the exorcist's shoe away! But the Church stepped in and the evil spirits ceased to oppress the unhappy woman. A land of strange paradoxes!

The Church.

At the Shanghai Conference the Church was said to come of age.

"But when we come to these reports we see the danger of letting the phrase run away with us and imagining that nothing remains but to praise God. In all four districts there is a serious lack of that same spiritual ability in leadership, whilst Christian virtue in the village oppresses one by its narrowness of outlook. The question of a more adequate ministry is very urgent. Most L.M.S. congregations are unable to bear the cost of a good minister, and at the same time instances are not lacking in the reports of the disappointing fruits born by a congregation with a poor one."

The Society's missionaries are doing all they can to remedy this. Since our union with the Presbyterian Church, the grouping of congregations into a one neighbourhood Church has appeared more feasible. During 1922 a good deal was done by way of commending this system to certain congregations, but with only partial success as yet. Clannishness and the fear of being without a resident minister hinder the acceptance. Only a missionary with the spiritual prestige acquired by constant visitation can overcome these feelings. Owing to staff exigencies, hardly a man can attain to this. Mr. Hutchinson's report from Changchow shows again and again the importance of a "Moderator" going to see for himself, and straightening things out before they become inextricably entangled. As Confucius said :

"When it comes to hearing litigations, I am as anybody else. What is necessary is to cause the people to have no litigations."

This is called "knowing the root."

This principle is to be found operating in Miss Keen's (Tingchow) work in station classes which have grown considerably during this last year. Illiteracy in the women relatives of Church members is the root of many disappointments over the Church's slow expansion. Therefore, Miss Keen goes to the root, and in consequence can report concerning a congregation formed four years ago in which the number of women Church members is equal to that of men. Station classes are one of the best approved methods from the field, but only Miss Keen and Miss Horne were able to organize such classes. So far the report forms a gloomy picture, but there are happier features.

"It is plain that as with the 'quiet on the land' in the days of our Lord, there are men and women in the Churches whose life shows that they have gained that spirituality in personality of which China's sages dreamed, and of which the country is desperately in need at this juncture. Among these, cases of women are not few, especially young women trained in L.M.S. Schools"

Six or seven new churches are reported as being erected in 1922, and with one exception, without any grant from the Society. The Changchow East-Gate Church, in particular, has been a very big undertaking, involving an expenditure of tens of thousands of dollars.

Less direct evangelistic work than usual has been done ; the countryside has been in a dangerous condition ; the missionaries, owing to the many claims upon them, cannot give all the time they would to this work. "A year of patch-work," writes one, "in the sense that my work has been done in little patches, one here, one there, with nothing co-ordinating them into one whole." On the other hand it must not be inferred that nothing has been done. Amoy City had a great union campaign in which Mr. Slater took his share. Miss Keen reports an admirable piece of work in a new village where out of 100 families, seventy had been lately brought into touch with the Gospel. Miss Ovenden also speaks of highly remunerative work in the country during the few uninterrupted weeks she was able to spend there.

Education.

In each centre it is a day of opportunity, and everywhere school managers are at their wit's end for lack of plant. And the boys and girls are awake and impressionable as never before ; history classes are stirred to tears and laughter with a new-formed apprehension of the reality of the past. Again, with the spirit of enquiry comes a new spirit just emerging of readiness to give time and labour in the service of others. Yet there is another side of the picture ; there is a lack of teachers of the right quality to seize the opportunity.

In all four districts we have primary schools dotted over the countryside, schools, the necessity for which Mr. Hutchinson's report emphasizes, whose promise Miss Ovenden reports, but which to a considerable extent miss the mark.

Hospital.

Of the three hospitals, one is closed, another is run by a locally trained Chinese, and only one has a foreign doctor in charge, and he has throughout the year had persistent ill-health. Dr. Turner has a great influence in Hweian, During the most critical period of the political troubles, the city elders, finding themselves "between fire and water," turned to their old friend the mission doctor for counsel, and they did not turn in vain.

EAST CHINA.

Shanghai is increasingly becoming a strong centre of missionary life, and during 1922 it was the scene of the National Christian Conference from May 2nd to 11th.

BEACONS IN THE NIGHT

This date will be memorable in the history of the Church in China. But at this point of the report it is our duty to consider Shanghai as an important centre of L.M.S. work.

Miss Clark and Miss K. B. Evans have been in charge of the evangelistic work among women. From Miss Evans' report with its vivid accounts of Chinese life, it is only possible to select one picture.

"In Doodeu and the country beyond the Dyke, between Doodeu and the sea, the year has seen great things. I remember a Sunday in Doodeu in 1915 when we had service with a handful of men and two women, and I compare a pouring wet Sunday in Doodeu last spring when the little Church was packed with men and women, over twenty women, most of whom had walked five miles to Church. As yet not many have come in from Doodeu itself, but there is a great stirring among the country people beyond the Dyke. They are terribly ignorant and desperately poor for the most part, and this is the fourth year of bad harvests for them. They are all in debt to one another, superstitions and witchcraft abound, they are the slaves of fear, and are ready to clutch at a Gospel that sets them free. It is a tremendous opportunity for the Church. We are quite alone in the district, and we have a great responsibility for the growing numbers of adherents. On long days spent in tiny boats and on wheelbarrows, at services in their huts and in the room they rent for a place of worship, by sick beds, at weddings and funerals one has had the vision of co-operative banks, of an industrial school, of sound building-up work that will help them to stand as a self-respecting community and will safeguard the doctrine from becoming little more than another superstition. Ignorance is their worst enemy, but can we tackle so big a problem? May we know how wisely to shepherd this new flock."

"We need men and money, we need education and training; we need clear plans and hard thinking," Miss Evans says, "but our greatest need is to be sure of God, and courage to live as we preach."

The reports from Medhurst College and the Medhurst Girls' School are more hopeful than in previous years. Mr. Bunce speaks of increased numbers and lessened financial strain; of a refitted laboratory, of a finer sportsmanship among the boys, and of a number of boys preparing for baptism. The number of scholars has risen from 150 to 210. The Girls' School came to its limit in numbers with sixty scholars, twenty of whom were boarders.

During the autumn term the top class was discontinued, and a beginning was made with a four years' Higher Primary Course. This represents a departure from the original policy ; and there are new problems to be faced. Miss Robertson reports one unpleasant episode in the year :

“ At midnight on January 16th, I found myself a teacher bereft of pupils ; they had gone “ on strike ”—but they ate their tiffin first ! A strike is not humorous . . . The school was closed for five days, after which all the girls came back.”

There is much to be done yet in raising the standard of class work ; new methods are needed, and a more intelligent teaching. To the missionary it sometimes seems as if the forces against her were almost overwhelming ; but there is the Spirit of God to remember.

“ I gave a friend a pot of daffodils a few weeks ago. The flowers were exquisite in the glow of their strong, pure colour—the pot was old, green, moulded and ugly ; I was rather ashamed of it. We have this treasure in earthen vessels that the excellence of the power may be of God, and not of us.

The Hospital in the Shantung Road has been in existence for seventy-seven years, and is known to all the Chinese. It is an institution almost entirely supported by Chinese and other friends in Shanghai. They have reason to be thankful for a work so vast. Over 100,000 out-patient visits, for example, are recorded ; there were 727 operations under anæsthetics, and the number of in-patients admitted throughout the year was 2,651. But such figures cannot tell the tale of all that this beneficent work means for Shanghai, and above all, for the spread of the Christian Gospel. Some notes may be added : sixteen X-ray apparatuses were in use from August ; and the Chinese are ready to submit to the examination. . . . A hopeful method of treating beri-beri cases has been tried with satisfactory results. Street accidents grow more numerous each year ; and sometimes there came to the hospital cases of accident which cast a light on industrial conditions. “ One boy of twelve was brought in about 6 a.m. one day ; he had been on a night shift in a factory and got his right hand caught in a machine and badly crushed.” . . . The work of the hospital as a training school for nurses is being pushed on; this work is done by the English matron and her colleagues, no small addition to their day's toil. There was progress on the evangelistic side. An Evangelistic Committee was formed. Some of the nurses attended the evangelistic meetings held by Dr. Sherwood Eddy, and three of them made public confession of faith in Christ.

In the work of the Tsinanfu Medical School, in which the teaching is in Chinese, the L.M.S. has borne an important part. Dr. P. L. McAll and Dr. Thomas Gillison have done great work, especially in the translation of English medical works into Chinese. One such work is in the library of the L.M.S., Cunningham's Manual of Practical Anatomy in Chinese; it is a memorable result of Dr. Gillison's stay at Tsinan. Dr. Gillison has returned to Hankow, but Dr. McAll still remains on the staff of this school. It is significant that seventy-six per cent. of its graduates are in Mission Hospitals.

CENTRAL CHINA.*

Death has removed several very valued Chinese workers, but the mission circle is still complete. Mr. and Mrs. Withers Green, Miss Dowsett and Mr. Miller, and on return from furlough—Mrs. Terrell, Dr. Massey and Miss Bleakley, and Mr. and Mrs. McFarlane, have all been welcomed.

It has been a year of political disintegration, of rapid rise in the cost of living; of floods and drought, epidemics and strikes; and the spirit of unrest has been evident everywhere, in the hospitals and schools, and even among the women workers. Opium smuggling has been widely carried on often under official pressure, while bandits have over-run some of the districts, and sadly hindered our work.

Progress in the union of the L.M.S. churches with those of the Church of Scotland Mission in Hupeh was marked during the year by the first meeting of the Hupeh Synod.

The last link has been broken in the long and close connection between the Union Church, Hankow, and the

* For this district Mr. A. J. McFarlane has provided a concise and excellent summary, which furnishes the basis of this report.

BEACONS IN THE NIGHT

L.M.S. The church owed its origin to the foresight and zeal of the L.M.S. fathers in earlier days who did not forget the spiritual needs of their countrymen in the port. Now, as a self-governing church, it has called to its pastorate the Rev. C. L. Carhart, an American. The suggested union in men's hospital work in Hankow between the Wesleyan Methodist Society and the L.M.S. has been unanimously approved by the mission forces in the field, and awaits the decision of the Home Boards.

Progress, too, can be reported in the attempts to make definite the aims of the Mission in the higher education and in the medical and evangelistic work. The native churches vary in different districts from vigorous activity to apathy in the matter of self-reliance and self-propagation. Comity among the missions seems to be a steadily growing idea, more especially in the large centres. There is needed still a co-ordinated programme in evangelistic work; districts struggle on by themselves, and the work is still too much from hand to mouth.

Evangelistic and Church Work.

The need for the provision of an adequate salary to the ministry is becoming an urgent problem among the young self-supporting churches. But though the reports show the need of a more competent ministry, yet they make plain what good work is being done.

Evangelistic tours sometimes combined with medical tours have been again a feature of the year's work. In some instances it is a band of women workers only. The preaching tours last from a few days to a month, and are very well worth the great time and labour. One glimpse of such a tour may be given:

"I had told the Bible-women I would captain them in this campaign," writes Mrs. Greig, "and that as soon as I hung out the flag they should be ready to follow . . . On our visit to Pu Sao Shu we started with a cloudy sky. This time we had in our company Miss Marten and Evangelist Wei. A steady fine drizzle set in; we arrived at a wayside inn and sought shelter. The inn was crowded with men on the way to market, or returning, and some were gambling at a table. Whilst we drank tea, we were the objects of much curiosity, and soon Mr. Wei had the eyes and ears of the whole crowd, explaining to them what the life of following the Master Jesus meant. One of the gamblers asked him a question or two, and getting replies, rose, saying, 'Then I'm done with gambling for ever,' and threw his dice away into the road . . . Wet shoes and sopping clothes mattered not, they were all so elated at the incident—they had beheld the Christ-light illuminating the heart of a man. They said, 'Heavy rain and bad roads don't matter, our labour is not lost.'"

Some brief notes must be added upon the hospital work carried on in this district. Hankow rejoices in the return of Dr. Gillison and on the arrival of Miss Dowsett. "My greatest satisfaction," writes Miss Hope Bell, "lies in the fact that we have not a heathen boy on our nursing staff. I have been hoping and working for this ever since 1911." To Wuchang Dr. Massey has returned after furlough to the Women's Hospital; and Dr. Yeh sends his record from the Men's Hospital—6,898 out-patients, and 1,142 in-patients. From Siaokan Dr. Wills tells vivid stories of the case of a badger-hunter and of ex-soldiers and bandits, treated for terrible wounds (5,743 out-patients, first visits, and 1,246 in-patients). The workers realise that they have prayer colleagues at home.*

There have been some notable instances of wonders wrought by prayer; chronic sickness, opium craving, and madness for instance have been cured, and other "astonishing results" in the hospitals are reported as well as more earnest spiritual atmosphere.

There is good work done in Sunday Schools in Hankow, Siaokan, and other cities; but the first graded Sunday School in this part of China is still too much of an exotic. The whole problem is one for the future Church to tackle. At Tsaoshih graded schools for men, women and boys and girls are carried on with voluntary teachers.

There is pitiable need among the women of this province. Even where there are chapels, the country women are largely untouched, as they cannot read, and cannot walk any distance to church as men can. The women doctors and nurses who have travelled with Bible-

* There will be a place in the Chronicle before February, 1924, ends, for some extracts from these inspiring records.

women for more than 600 or 700 miles, have been brought face to face with the terrible need of districts like Mienjang where there is no medical aid for a population of 900,000.

There have been sixteen women from six districts in the Women's Bible School, Siaokan, during the year. Much visiting has been done by the Bible-women and other Christian women in heathen homes. The three Bible-women in the San Hwang district have also been doing good work. In the Women's Bible School, Tsaoshih, there have been eleven women during the year. Two Bible-women have been at work in the district, and one in Tsaoshih itself.

In the earlier part of the year industrial work was carried on for flood refugees; the profits on the work are being used in helping the Girls' Boarding School.

In Hankow a new opening has been made in the "Industry Room" where ten to fifteen women work from 9 till 5 o'clock daily, hours interspersed with some classes, and fill orders from Chinese and foreigners for clothes, embroidery, knitting, etc. But even among the women workers the same spirit of unrest has shown itself, which has done so much mischief among the men of the industrial areas during the past year.

The opening of a "Door of Hope" has been long desired at Hankow, and may soon become a reality through the united efforts of the missions. Amid many pieces of news it must not be overlooked that during the past year two deaconesses were appointed in the Chinese Church in Hankow, and one in Siaokan, and they have done splendid work.

Education.

The Griffith John College was full in every department. There was some unrest, but the old boys helped to clear up the difficulty. The house system was introduced. A good deal of equipment for the Ho-Chi Science Hall was acquired or prepared during the year. It was possible to help some students at Tsinanfu University. In this and other ways the value of the College to the Church is being shown increasingly. A voluntary Bible Class of fifty to eighty in attendance was held on Saturday nights. There were several accessions to the Church.

In January, 1922, the Girls' Boarding School was moved from Wuchang to Hanyang to much better buildings. Fourteen of the sixty girls were received into Church fellowship. There is no other Girls' Middle School in our missions in Central China. In the Primary Schools there are in Hankow thirty boys and 207 girls; in Hwangpei, twenty-five boys and 214 girls; in Siaokan forty boys and ninety-six girls; and in Tsaoshih the number of boys is reported down for the year; in Hanyang there are three boys' and three girls' schools.

It is the aim of the Mission that the children of all the Christians should attend a Christian School. But that remains still a distant ideal.

There is much work being done by the missionary societies in fellowship. To the Union Normal School, Wuchang, Mr. and Mrs. Knott have gone as the L.M.S. representatives; for thirteen years they have been at the Griffith John College. They rejoice that they have been able to bring up their children

"In very impressionable years, with such jolly little Chinese friends and schoolmates as have gathered daily during the last year in the kindergarten held in our own house."

In leaving for the Normal School, Mr. Knott speaks of the close connection between this School and "Griffith John," and expresses the hope that there will never be a rift in the future.

There is no reference to Government recognition of the School. "Probably this is because it might be as hard for us in these days to recognize which was the Government, as for the Government to recognize the schools."

NORTH CHINA.

The Great Famine was in 1921; in 1922, the missionaries were released from the service of mercy to which they had given themselves, but there are many signs that doors are open to the Gospel because its servants had come to the rescue in the hour of the famine. From the Peking Country Field Mr. Howard Smith reports a year, throughout his district, of evangelistic work, impeded not a little by the Civil War. In spite of such conditions there has been much itinerant preaching, and many Chinese have cheerfully joined in preaching the Gospel to their countrymen. During the Civil War, when bands of defeated and deserting soldiers were wandering about the country-side carrying out their depredations, two of our churches, under the leadership of the preacher in charge, quite on their own initiative opened up refuges for the women and children, giving shelter to 1,500 terrified women and children during the two or three days and nights that the danger existed.

It is to the Church the others turn for help in danger or in famine; and they are learning to expect from Christians integrity, mercy and unselfishness, and a fair deal in everything.

The Society was represented on the Faculty of the Peking University by Mr. J. B. Taylor, Professor of Economics; Mr. R. K. Evans, Professor of New Testament Literature; and till he left for Tientsin in 1922, by Mr. G. B. Barbour. In these days of the Chinese Renaissance this university has a witness to give of supreme importance in the intellectual and spiritual life of China. Nor can the Union Medical College be omitted from the annals of the year; it is under the China Medical Board and is one of the best equipped Medical Schools in the world, and both in its origins and in its recent history the L.M.S. has borne an honourable part.

The missionary cause in Peking and throughout China suffered a heavy blow when Mr. R. K. Evans had to leave his work in the university owing to a serious breakdown in health. The year for him was one of peculiar strain; at the Shanghai Conference he had a most important and critical part to play; the measure of the influence he had in Peking is the measure of the Society's loss during his absence.

In the Boys' School there were 265 scholars. It was a good year in spite of one serious trouble. There was considerable activity on the spiritual side; seven students were received into the Church, and one decided to consecrate his life to the ministry.

After twenty-two years of town educational work, Mr. Biggin has had an experience of country work. On reaching Siaochang in 1921 he was asked to give especial attention to work at the central station, while the fields further away were to claim most of the time of Miss Livens and Mr. Rowlands. Many interesting things concerning Siaochang are reported from Mr. and Mrs. Biggin. The whole area has five or six million inhabitants with but a small nucleus of Christians. For their help classes are held periodically. One of these was attended by sixty-eight women; they brought their own food, and studied five hours a day; the books used were all in phonetic so that the members of this class would all be able to read the New Testament for themselves. Mr. Biggin started a circulating library and a correspondence class to keep in touch with the teachers. There are now forty members of the library, who receive a regular supply of books. There are other developments of the same methods in Mr. Biggin's mind. From this year's experience the present outlook is pronounced to be the most encouraging for years past.

With this agrees the judgment of Miss Livens, who reports upon a busy and fruitful year. Among the special features of the year she notes the new hymn-book, prepared by Mr. Rowlands with Chinese tunes easily learned. In former times, except in the most familiar hymns, the singing in the village meetings often became a duet between the missionary and the Bible-women; now, thanks to the new phonetic and to the hymn-book, the whole congregation joins lustily in the singing. The second feature is the institution, on Mr. Biggin's suggestion, of a regular messenger to the out-stations, and the third, the progress in Church-consciousness, and in the conception of the unity of the work. In her twentieth year of service, this missionary thinks that there is no field in the world like the North China plain.

"So far from having gone back or grown cold during the famine period, the Churches, almost without exception, seemed to have gone forward and increased both in numbers and in zeal . . . It is not much of an exaggeration to say that in Ningchin the Churches are springing up like mushrooms on every hand, and one can hardly keep track of the new groups that are forming themselves into Churches in this region."

There were 220 baptisms and many catechumens. There was greater emphasis upon the instruction of Christians; an attempt to cope with the problem of illiteracy; Bible lessons in preparation for Church membership; a marked development of local leadership; a growth in Church organization. Once more to Mr. Rowlands, as to his colleagues, it was a great year, full of interest and hope.

There have been negotiations for a closer union between the evangelistic work of the L.M.S. in the city of Tientsin and that of the American Board. Mention must be made also of the Christian Federation which seeks to co-ordinate the work of the Churches in Tientsin. At the annual summer conference for preachers which it arranged last year, Bible-women were happily included for the first time Since Tientsin lies on the route between Peking and Manchuria, the country around was over-run by undisciplined troops, and Tientsin became a city of refuge. At one time Wilton House, and one wing of the church gave shelter to 150 women and young children. The time was used to teach many of them the Wong-Peill script Much work was done in the country in spite of the Civil War. In Hsin An, for example, there is now a hearty welcome and a friendly smile; it was not always so, and the changed attitude of non-Christians was most noticeable both there and elsewhere.

“Bliss was it in that dawn to be alive,
But to be young was very heaven.”

With these words one of the reports from the Anglo-Chinese College begins:

“If one were an Olympian looking down from a splendid isolation upon the gradual awakening of interest and the unfolding of life amongst the best of our students, one could not fail to be impressed by the wonder and the beauty of the working of God’s Spirit in the hearts and lives of some of them; but to be living in the midst of it all, to be a part of this

* It has been an unusually difficult year for the Tientsin staff. Mr. Murray’s illness made it imperative that he should be relieved of the heavy responsibilities at Tientsin, which he would have had to bear single-handed. When he was transferred to Tsangchow, Mr. Liddell was brought from Peking.

throbbing life, and moreover to be, under God, in some small measure at any rate, responsible for the dawn of this revolution in the lives of even a few of our students, is to experience the joy and the satisfaction of those whose citizenship is in heaven."

If youth but knew what prizes are waiting them, there would be no difficulty in finding recruits. It is not of numbers nor of the enlarging vision of the work the missionaries are thinking, though there are far more applicants than can be received (in September there were 570 students), but it is of such memories as these they are thinking. "Before the end of the summer term we had the great joy of baptizing seventeen of our present students and two old students." These are men for whom their teachers and friends have prayed and toiled for years, and they are men who will count in the life of China. Besides, to those who look for indications of the work of God, it will be significant that in China there is at the moment an outburst of anti-Christian teaching, which did not leave the Anglo-Chinese College untouched. By far the biggest result of this "was the fact that the students began to think for themselves and to enquire into the statements that they had heard." Stagnation is the thing to be feared. There are bold and far-reaching plans for the College in the mind of its Principal,

All records have been beaten in the Tientsin Hospital. When it is noted that of out-patients there are 11,548 new cases, and 36,123 returned, the scope of the work can be judged. Miss Butcher has been welcomed as matron. During Dr. Peake's furlough his place is being taken by Dr. Stuckey, who writes of the work:

"A business man in the purchase of a building is always ready to pay heavily for 'goodwill.' I make bold to say that there is no better investment in goodwill in Tientsin to-day than this hospital."

He found the medical service of the best, and the only thing below standard is the building.

"England has troubles," says Mr. Arnold Bryson, of Tsangchow, "but it has scarcely been treated within a few weeks to a civil war, an invasion of undisciplined soldiers ready to loot at a moment's notice, and when they had disappeared, a cut-throat brigand chief usurping the authority of the city magistrate." But against this dark background the Gospel shines most brightly.

If each Mission station were to select one work as its distinctive mark, Tsangchow would choose the using of Wong-Peill script. Reports come to hand of remarkable results from the script. It has been the means of introducing the Bible to fifty-seven villages in three months, by teaching 600 adults to read the script; of these 336 have registered their names as enquirers. In Mr. Han the missionaries have found an enthusiastic leader.

"The sight of a class of illiterates," writes Mr. Jowett Murray, "learning to read within the week, the thrill with which for the first time they read for themselves some of the Gospel stories, the hymn-singing. "What a debt we owe to Will Rowlands for his new phonetic hymn-book!"

Early in March Mr. Bryant left for furlough; Miss Cook joined the staff; Dr. Sidney Peill returned, and Mr. Jowett Murray was transferred from Tientsin for the important work of training country evangelists. In December Dr. and Mrs. S. Howard Wright spent a short time at their future station before they went to the Language School.

The scattered communities still require a good deal of help and encouragement. Three villages have been added to the roll of places where Christians meet for worship.

Among the works for the year, Miss Roberts reports the women's preaching tent at both the May Fair and the November Fair.

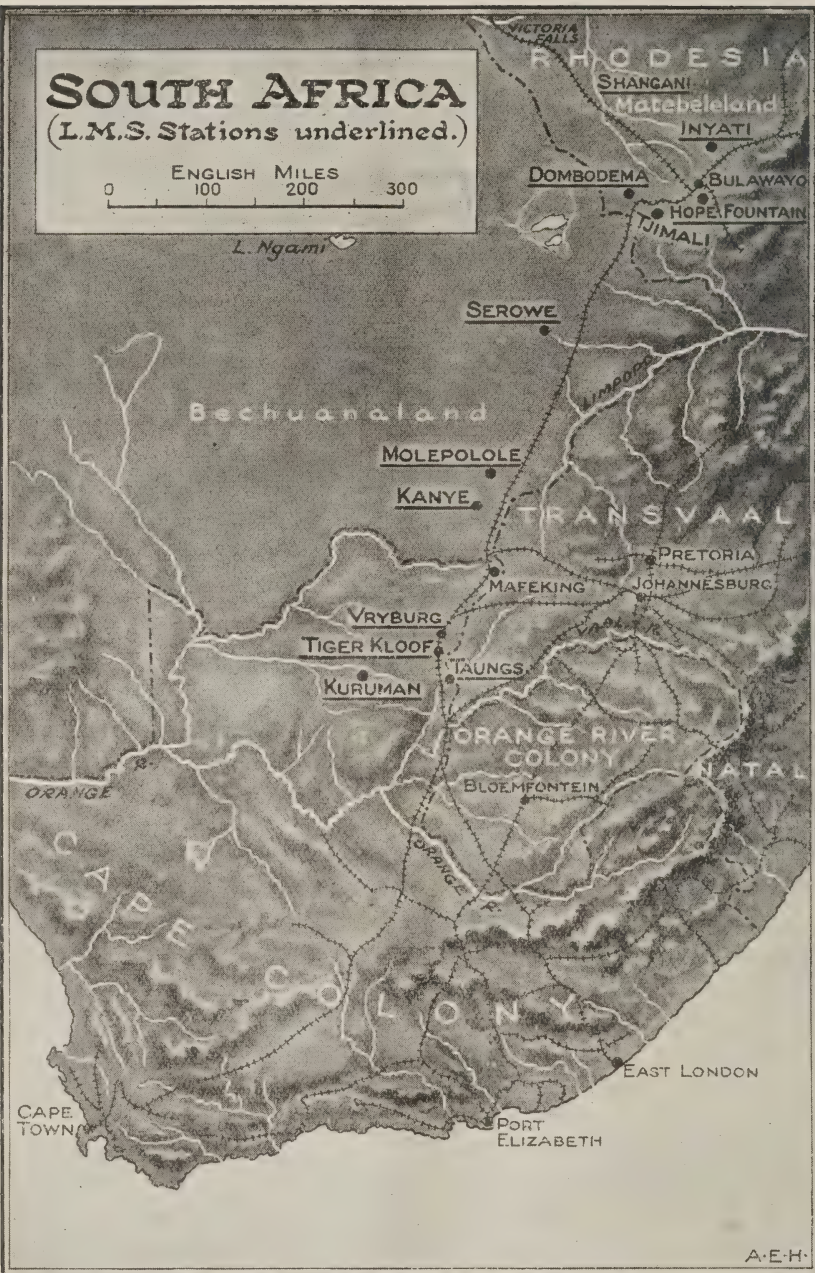

Medical work is always impossible to describe; but some of the advances in the Roberts' Memorial Hospital can be noted. "We have two operating rooms, sterilizing, instrument, and doctor's rooms, as well. Our kitchen also is an established fact. Instead of fifty cooks cooking for fifty patients, the meals are now served by our own hospital cook" "Next year we hope to be talking," says Miss Christiansen "of our nursing staff." And she adds, "Miss Roberts still labours on indefatigably teaching, examining and preaching to the women." This will be the last time such an entry will be made in the report, for Miss Roberts has had to return to England; she has left in China the record of a consecrated life, given without reserve to the Master's service; there, along with the name of her brother, her name will not be forgotten.

SOUTH AFRICA.

A YEAR of drought with poverty and disease in its train; a year of hunger in which the people were often dispersed in search of bread; a year of lowered vitality of body and spirit—such was 1922 throughout the range of our South Africa Mission. "Oh, unloving year, pass on!" is the native proverb quoted by one of the missionaries. In each station there seemed to be some peculiar phase of tribulation, but all share in the terrors of the drought. In such a year the spiritual work takes some of its character from the physical condition. It is a work done in the face of overwhelming odds. The missionaries and their native helpers have been in the position of men who hold on in the crisis of a battle; they say as the French said at Verdun, "They shall not pass!" In such a year not to retreat is a victory.

For Bechuanaland and indeed for all South Africa it was the year of Khama's Jubilee as a Chief. It is now remembered as the last of his many years; an evening light rests upon the story, an evening of stormy interludes and of peace all the deeper because of the storm. There is no need for this report to tell again the immortal story of the Chief.* But upon the records of a year of

* It has been told fully in Khama by Mr. J. C. Harris, and in the pages of the Chronicle.

many sorrows there rests the radiance of a faithful life. Against the stormy background we see our last picture of a great man.

The life of the Church in Kuruman has suffered from the conditions ; because of the drought the people were less able to support the work of the Church ; many could give little and some nothing at all. Not from the drought only, but also from the scarcity of work due to the strike in Johannesburg did the people suffer. And there was the greatest difficulty in financing the mission. " Within the limits imposed by the character of the year, the work of the station has been carried on."

At Vryburg also, the rains failed and the dews failed ; and during the early months of the year swarm after swarm of locusts visited the district, and it was not till Christmas that hope revived with the coming of the rains. Thousands of the cattle died, and in some villages the people subsisted chiefly on locusts. The services suffered, since the worshippers were scattered in search of work, or were on the veldt looking for wild fruit. The new conditions under the Free Education have disturbed the teachers, and they have not yet settled down to the new code. The Conference of Workers at Gangesa was a good time, but it was overshadowed by the conditions. " As illustrating the difficulties of the financial situation, I have to inform you," writes the missionary, " that the income for the last two years together is much less than the income for 1920." But he has not lost hope that out of this trial there will arise a faith all the stronger for the testing.

A fertile land reduced to desert ; and a long season of sand-storms ! This is the experience of Taungs, " The outstanding event of the year was the opening of our new church building at Magogon. . . . The opening ceremony was performed by the Chief in the presence of the Superintendent of Natives, and about 300 members of the tribe. We began the proceedings by marching round the building singing ' Count your Blessings,' the stream of people encircling the church five or six deep." The church looks like the old Taungs Mission House, with the same doors, windows and roof.

There was trouble in this district from some of the chiefs, and from inefficient teachers. Both chiefs in the Reserve care little for Christianity or progress, and they do nothing to help their people. Their influence is not a healthy one for the young.

“Followed by the same relentless enemies as last year, drought, poverty, typhus, the Church has kept faithful to its calling, and we rejoice at the slight improvement now noticeable.”

Molepolole is without a resident European missionary and has been under the care of Mr. Loabile and his wife. Grave trouble has been caused through the revival of old heathen customs. The chief led the way; the boys and men have the Bogwera, the girls and women the Boyale; those of the Christian name who refused to join suffering persecution. There seems no means of protecting them by law under the present regulations. Mr. Dugmore is of opinion that the law should be altered so that young people who wish to be Christians may be protected no matter what their age may be, or what their parents or guardians may say.

During the influenza epidemic homes were visited in which all the children had died. “In one home,” Mr. Dugmore writes, “I found the mother ill and heard that four children had been buried within the week and the only remaining child, a little boy of about ten years, was just beginning to recover. . . . Another father told me that he had buried three of his five children the day before.” Such were some of the sorrows of Molepolole during 1922. They used to ask when a missionary was coming to them; they seem now to think there is no hope of this!

At Kanye as at Molepolole there has been a revival of heathenism. The forward movement chronicled in the 1921 report was met by “a counter move in 1922 from the Powers of Darkness.” It is very hard to take action to protect the Christians from the tyranny of a chief who with his tribe is re-introducing pagan customs. One man whose wife was a Christian had tried to track out the Bogwera School, which is held in secret. He suspected that his son was there. When his footmarks were discovered, he was captured, tried, and ordered to go through the school himself. "He naturally objected and so did his wife, and a struggle took place in which he was soon overpowered, bound and carried away. His wife followed wailing and lamenting. She refused to return, and so she was flogged and left half dead." It was impossible to take any legal action because of the difficulty of finding witnesses. It was a hard year in Kanye district, but there were signs of hope. "It is encouraging to remember that more than 300 young men and women were in the catechumens' classes preparing for church membership."

The year at Serowe was the year of Chief Khama's Jubilee and the return of Sekgome. At the celebrations of July 23rd and 24th, there were many impressive sights and significant words, but nothing more significant than the place of honour given by the Chief to the London Missionary Society. Of this historic occasion a full record has been published, and need not be repeated. But it is good to remember that the joy and stimulus of the Jubilee greatly helped the Chief to meet the hard experiences of the year. In addition to the afflictions which almost all the tribes of South Africa shared, the Chief had to meet the rebellion of the Maborwa tribe. For the story of this rebellion and of the complete acquittal of Khama by Sir Herbert Sloley, the reader may be referred to The Life of Khama. So far as the mission was concerned the rebellion was a disturbing influence.

A new church was built by the Mhashwa people, who worked hard at their temple, which is set on high and cannot be hid. But from a material point of view the year has been one of failure. On the spiritual side there is good work to be noted among the women of the Church. The young men too show signs of awakening interest. And the week of prayer ending with the solemn watch-night service was a very profitable season. There has been here as elsewhere, widespread sickness, and a heavy mortality especially among the young and the aged.

The school at Serowe numbered over 400 during the year, which in many respects was very successful. The class must be noted in which the boys and girls about fifteen who wish to become catechumens are given special lessons during the time devoted to Scripture lessons. At the Annual Church Meeting it was resolved to start two new schools at new village centres.

In the Lake Ngami District the news that a missionary was coming put life into all the workers. Mr. Kgasa has carried on the work with characteristic fidelity. He will be a great companion and fellow-worker for the European missionary. For him, no less than for others, there were many adverse conditions during the year. The school children were scattered on account of hunger. There was a hard fight to be waged against the Kaffir beer drinking. "I have classes," he writes, "of seventy-eight girls and boys, who have all of them promised never to use intoxicating drinks."

In his report, the Principal of Tiger Kloof faces frankly the handicaps of the work—the isolation from any native town, and the lack of agricultural resources. But at the same time he shows along what ways the institution can develop. In this judgment he was helped very greatly by a visit from Dr. Loram, one of the foremost educationalists in South Africa. "It looks as though Tiger Kloof will become more and more a centre for higher education in the north of the Cape Province—a High School, a Training School of limited numbers and an Industrial School. Perhaps what we valued most during Dr. Loram's visit was his statement that he felt there was a 'tone' in Tiger Kloof, which was a priceless possession." Along with the report from Tiger Kloof comes from the Principal a close and searching survey of education in the range of the South African District Committee; the present hour is one of transition in the education of the Africans, and it is good to know that the missionaries in South Africa are alive to the needs of the hour.*

The year 1922 was a good year in the whole institution. The Practising School has been adapting itself to the new Syllabus for Native Schools. The Bible School has been re-opened upon the return of Mr. Gavin Smith in 1923.

BEACONS IN THE NIGHT

There is regret expressed once more that more girls are not sent from our own mission stations. Two groups of children in England had given a school bell to the Girls' School; and the girls themselves worked at a tennis lawn, and since they rose early to do the work, they call their club "Rising Dawn."

SOUTHERN RHODESIA.

When the traveller through these records crosses the border into Matebeleland he finds still the traces of the prolonged drought. It was in September that Mr. Whiteside arrived in Inyati after furlough. Education in South Africa is in process of change, and recommendations have been made for the schools at Inyati, but it is good meanwhile to note that the inspector said, "The work in the three schools is in a thoroughly sound state and the mission authorities have reason to congratulate themselves on its efficiency."

An out-station has been closed. For a few years the natives of Shiloh have had the feeling that their days at Shiloh were numbered. In 1923 they were given notice to leave the town, and the mission was informed that as the natives were moving the church building was of no further use as a church. The members have now scattered far and wide. The Mission had been a successful one; it was founded by Mr. Thomas in 1875, and he was buried in a field not far from the dismantled church. The shifting of population is one of the difficulties which meet the missionary in Africa to-day. The church work both at Inyati and the older out-stations gives the missionary grave anxiety. There is a lack of inquirers from among the younger people. Members die, lapse or remove to other places, and there are few rising up to take the vacant places.

"It is difficult to know what to do to revive the work. At Inyati two certificated teachers, Messrs. Makeba and Quinche, have entered heartily into Church work, and are eager to do what they can to keep the flag of truth unfurled. It may be that we are passing through a time of spiritual depression which will be followed by a season of vigorous spiritual growth if we faint not."

Difficulty and disappointment have marked the year in the Dombodema District. One encouraging feature was the growing improvement of the work at Dombodema itself. There the attendance has been good, and there are over a hundred on the roll of catechumens. A women's meeting was started by the missionary's wife with good results; some of the women have themselves conducted evangelistic meetings. Evangelization is hard. The non-Christians are apt to judge the Christian Church by its negative rules, and they are not attracted by them. But "the bonds of heathenism are gradually being broken by the penetrating Gospel of Jesus Christ."

The Government is realizing more and more its responsibility for the education of the Africans. The grant of the Rhodesian Government has increased, and for education altogether the sum available from the two Governments will be £523, a welcome increase.

Reports from the districts are given; in one the work is well maintained, in another there is little progress; in yet another the movement of people from certain farms makes it impossible to carry on work except at a great loss. The itineration of the missionary was not quite completed when his car broke down, but 3,000 miles were covered. In one case he found when seventy miles from home that his boy had packed paraffin instead of petrol! In his thoughts before furlough, Mr. Anderson sets forth his hopes for Dombodema, especially for a more intensive work at the main station, so that this may become more and more a worthy centre for the vast districts which must be committed to the care of trained native evangelists.*

"The past year has been quite the most difficult I have had," Mr. Neville Jones writes from Hope Fountain.† "We have suffered and are still suffering from famine, the like of which has not been known since the time of the rebellion." It will not surprise the readers to learn that here, too, the year was one of marking time. Class membership was bad owing to the dispersions that the famine caused. Contributions were small, because there was little money. No new out-stations could be opened, and itineration could only be carried on in a very restricted way. The missionary's hands were full of building. But living at the head station, Mr. Neville Jones could do more intensive work. "I have, at any rate, never known conditions more healthy in Hope Fountain than they are at present. There is a spirit of cheerfulness and contentment amongst us which depressing times have not diminished." The Sunday services were never better attended; the bright choral service was a help, and the preacher was conscious that he was getting at the hearts of the people. At Hope Fountain they were seeking not in vain to rise above their environment. "What greater evidence can we need of the presence of the Spirit of God?" At the Southern Rhodesian Conference which met at Bulawayo, Mr. Jones acted as president.

* The touching story of a native Christian included in this report must be kept for the Chronicle.

† Extract from the Report of the African Education Commission which visited Hope Fountain in 1921.

The Girls' Boarding Home is one of the most important institutions in this part of Africa. During the year Miss Jessie Simmonite joined the staff and proved herself a most welcome and timely helper. "Speaking for my wife and myself," says Mr. Jones, "it is at once a relief and a joy to feel that we are no longer alone in shouldering the burden of an ever-growing and developing institution."

years ago by the Principal, Mr. Neville Jones. The staff consists of the European principal and his wife, together with three native women from good schools in Natal and Cape Province. There are about fifty girls in attendance, all boarding at the institution. The institution includes all standards through Standard IV. The girls are in school from six to ten a.m. From ten to twelve they receive instruction in sewing, weaving with grass, or some other form of industrial training. The afternoon is spent in gardening and recreation. After completing Standard IV the girls are sent to Tiger Kloof for normal training. Arrangements are now being made to include normal training in the course.

The school plant is exceedingly simple and greatly in need of development. The buildings include a principal's house, girls' sleeping and dining quarters, a small schoolroom, two teachers' cottages and a large and substantially-built church. Though the buildings are simple and in some respects even primitive, they are kept in sanitary and even attractive conditions by the well-directed activities of the girls. The success of the principal in administering this institution so effectively with such a primitive plant and such a small income is to be highly commended.

The first headmistress, Rachel Masinga, was married in July, and has gone to the Government school at Chindamore; no praise is too great for the work she did at Hope Fountain. The year closed with fifty-four girls who acquitted themselves well. The industrial department calls for special mention. Needlework, laundry work, and especially pottery, must be mentioned, and soon basketry. The value of the education given is beyond question.

"I am prepared to say that the value of one girl, who leaves us, having got all we can give her, to the Kingdom of God and the land of South Africa, is greater than the value of many inefficiently taught children. In Hope Fountain we have the future mothers of the race, and ours is the work of forming the determining factor of the home. God be thanked for a great task."

CENTRAL AFRICA.

"They journeyed in the wilderness towards the sunrising."

These words sum up the experiences of the year, "the desolations of the wilderness, the dark shadows, its lurking haunting fears, its hard untrodden ways, and ahead of us the hills of dawn and promise, touched with faint gleams of the coming glory of the sunrising." With these gleams all the records of the year from Central Africa are lighted.

Some of the people of Kambole went sixteen miles to Lake Tanganyika to greet Mr. and Mrs. Ross on their return from furlough. Their first months have been months of reaping. Eighty have been added to the roll of catechumens and forty-two adults and sixteen children have been baptized. Village school work has suffered from the loss of teachers due to the missionary's absence. Sunday school and dispensary, in which Mrs. Ross bears her share, must not be forgotten. On his return Mr. Ross hastened to set on foot his industrial scheme. The ideal at which he aims is to provide employment for the people near their homes. A good beginning is reported. Experiments in about a dozen different trades and in cotton growing have been made. Three months were spent by the missionary in itinerating. In the district eight evangelists have been employed whose work has often to take them through "the dim and lion-haunted ways."

BEACONS IN THE NIGHT

Dr. Wareham left Mpolokoso in May; since that time Mr. Ross has had oversight of this station, which is eighty miles from Kambole. The Church has held its own fairly well. Thirty-seven have been baptized, and forty-one enrolled as catechumens.

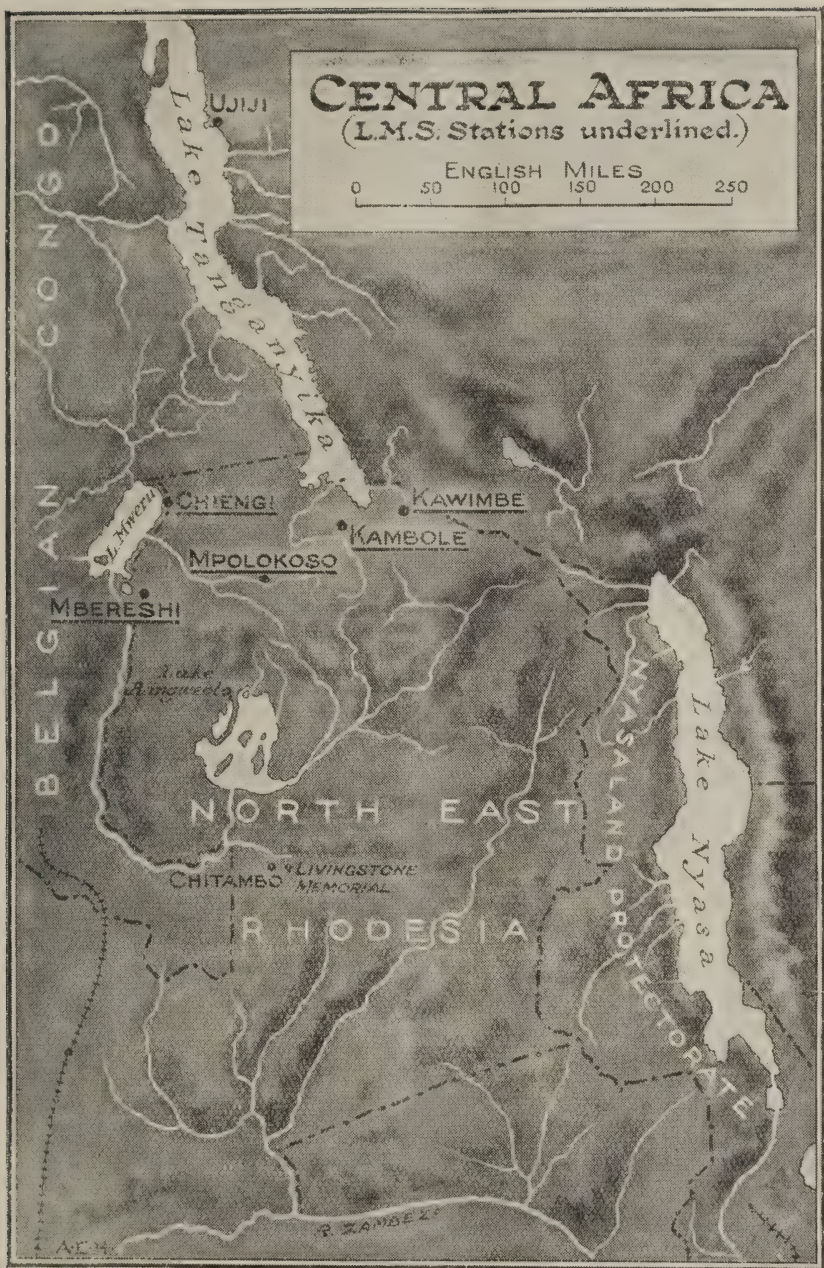

It is always a joy to add another name to the L.M.S. map of Central Africa. Kafulwe on the Eastern shore of Lake Mweru—last year for the first time the district had its own Mission station.

“Grass ten feet high and thick bush covered the site where now a spacious Mission stands overlooking the lake. All the buildings have been put up in sun-dried brick, and comprise a dwelling-house, school, church, hospital of three blocks, and other necessary shelters for food. All were built in five months, and roofed before the rains set in.”

Evangelists have done more work than it was possible before. So a new church with two members has been planted in the heart of Central Africa. There are fifty-four catechumens and adherents number 1,486. Medical work was carried on under primitive conditions; but it meant much for the community that 750 patients were treated. The readers of the report will not forget to inscribe this new name Kafulwe upon the map of their prayers.

Thousands have left Mbereshi to return to the Luapula River, their home; the removal of the sleeping sickness regulations has made that possible. The Church has suffered heavily; no less than 600 adherents have gone from three of the biggest villages. They will now be under the spiritual care of the Brethren Mission. These neighbours work along much the same lines as the L.M.S. Mission, and to their charge the missionaries can confidently commit their members.

The building debt on the Mbereshi Church was almost extinguished by the end of the year. The activities of the Church in evangelistic work have been well supported by the members; three young men are in training for Bible institution or evangelistic work. The Anglo-vernacular School for teachers and the village schools have been carried on with diminished staffs, owing to the opening of Kafulwe, and the lure of the Congo. Much is done in the provision of vernacular literature; more than 2,834 volumes were sold during the year, nearly half in the Mbereshi district, and the rest to neighbouring missions.

The Girls' Boarding School has become very popular; seventy girls were in residence, and there is a long waiting list. "Much progress has been made, perhaps not so much in the way of scholarship as in the development of garden work and the more homely arts, as well as in the lighter side of our life together." Eleven scholars left to be married. These marriages bring a heart-breaking problem for the missionaries; sometimes a heathen mother compels her daughter to marry a man whom she does not respect, and her married life is one of misery. There is a brighter side; one old member of the school in Elizabethville has opened her home as a place of prayer, and goes with her husband into the villages to preach the Gospel. Four others are among the sixteen women who go out from Mbereshi to conduct services in the villages.

Encouraging and refreshing reports come from Kawimbe. The inhabitants of these districts seem now to be waking from the sleep of ages. . . . Crowded church services, full classes for Christian instruction and well attended schools are the order of the day. "The people," writes Mr. Clark, "are responding splendidly and we see a constant endeavour to reach out to spiritual things and to God."

Mr. and Mrs. Clark were heartily welcomed back by the people in May. Their affection for the people seems to be most cordially reciprocated by them. Since his return, both Mr. Clark and Mr. Draper have endeavoured to reach all 180 villages in the district, a task that involves a journey in the aggregate of 1,600 miles. In all the villages they were well received, and in many instances they found many waiting to be interviewed for baptism, or entrance into the catechumenate. The fruits of all their labours, and those also of the evangelists are seen in the 102 adult baptisms, and the 431 receptions into the catechumenate that have taken place during the year. Evidences, too, of the power of the Gospel in the lives of the people are often seen in believers becoming fearless of persecution, and staunch against the following of heathen customs. The village church is becoming the centre of the people's lives, and from it, light and holy influences are radiating and changing the lives of men and women. Nineteen paid evangelists are used to itinerate amongst these villages for most of the year, while others also visit villages in this capacity who spend part of their time in school teaching. There is also a large body of voluntary workers, including a number of women, who conduct meetings in the villages. Extensive village school work has been carried on during the year in 117 centres, employing 176 teachers, and reaching over 4,000 scholars. One result of this work is to find that over 2,200 people are able to read a Gospel, while very many more are reading in the first spelling book. It should be borne in mind that in the Kawimbe district there is no other agency at present that undertakes this work of making a literate people.

The medical work of the station has been in the hands of Mrs. Draper. Ninety-six in-patients were treated in the hospital and over 4,000 other patients, some from distant villages. But the greatest marvel of medical treatment was the cure of the leprous; whether the cure is permanent or not, only time will show, but the patients themselves seem to say "Whether we be permanently cured we know not; one thing we know that whereas we were leprous now we are healed."

The great event of the year for Mr. and Mrs. Clark was the restarting of the Girls' Boarding School. Twenty-five girls were in residence showing much promise. . . .

Literary work has had its place in the busy life of the missionary, and the little printing press has not been idle. "I have translated," writes Mr. Clark, "Brother Lawrence's 'Practice of the Presence of God,' and as far as I am concerned, it is ready for the press. I have kept three of my best boys going since the beginning of the rains, and between us we are nearly through the Psalms, and through a book of Old Testament stories which will continue the present book which we have, and bring it to the time of Christ. We hope soon to be able to give those 2,000 who have learnt to read some books. At present I fear that many who read and write letters never get the chance to read a book, except, I am glad to say, a Gospel."

“A light to lighten the Gentiles, and the glory of thy people Israel.”

THERE are cheering reports from the Isle of Treasures, Madagascar. The progress of the two previous years is still maintained, and there is a forward look in the eyes of the missionary leaders. There is a mental and spiritual alertness in many parts of the Church, and, most happy news of all, the Malagasy Christians have listened to the call to carry the Gospel to their own people at present beyond its range.

But a warning note is sounded from the Imerina District :

“The next ten years in the Mission field of Madagascar, especially in Imerina, will doubtless be the most critical of any period in its history. The deadening influence of modern civilization, the querulous attitude of officialdom, the complicated problems connected with a growing but immature Church, the increasing demands for higher educational facilities, the ever-recurring difficulty of securing and training leaders of the right stamp and calibre, all demand that our staff should be kept as efficient and complete in condition as possible.”

The work of the Mission has been seriously affected by the refusal of the Governor-General to allow the teaching of reading in the churches. The seven Evangelical Missions contend that the knowledge of reading is essential to Protestant worship and service, and does not touch the Government educational department.

BEACONS IN THE NIGHT

"The refusal means that the Malagasy will become more illiterate than ever, especially in provinces where elementary schools are altogether inadequate to the population. In a church, not more than an hour from town, the report of the pastor gives the number of church members as 102, and only twenty-seven were able to read. The Governor certainly encourages us to build schools, but the serious expenditure incurred in erecting school-houses, Government red tape, the scarcity of qualified teachers, the heavy financial burden of maintaining these when secured afford little hope that the difficulty will be met in that direction."

The work of the Mission, which does not vary from year to year, cannot be put on record in detail. It is only possible to note from the Imerina District that the missionaries have a bewildering range of duty; editorial work, printing, teaching, itinerating, the charge of large districts fall to them. One travelled 3,000 kilometres in the year on foot or by push-bicycle. Another faced a bitterly divided station church, and at the same time superintended two districts. Others went to new and important work in Antsihanaka.

Of the new Mission to the Tsimihety the readers of the report will expect to hear something. The Mission station at Mandritsara, after a reconnaissance in force, was occupied. It is a splendid opportunity for the L.M.S. to take its place among the other societies in a new and vigorous attempt at the complete evangelization of the land. Village after village was visited, where the darkness of paganism was unbroken, and polygamy, idolatry and many corruptions were practised. Already the Gospel of Luke has been translated into Tsimihety. To the same story of advance belongs the work among the Marofotsy and the Bezanozano. Among the Antsihanaka the Mission is already established, and in 1923 the Hospital and Theological Seminary should be opened.

The medical work in 1922 was from house to house; the rounds of the doctors being paid in visits all over the village. Wednesdays and Saturdays were reserved for operations. The total number seen was 7,506. Over 140 names of towns and villages from which the patients hail were registered. Unhappily in November the state of Mrs. Moss's health made it necessary for Dr. Moss to bring her to England, but Miss Lochhead remained to carry on this work as far as the authorities would permit.

Among the Imerina churches, Ramambasoa, who made many friends in England, held conferences in pursuit of his work for Sunday schools. He also established a teaching centre in Tananarive which was attended by teachers and pastors from all sides. With few elementary schools in Imerina the Sunday school work has become of vital importance, and everyone will wish prosperity to Ramambasoa and his "Westhill" in Madagascar.

There has been some trouble in the churches of Tananarive; the very freedom for self-expression enjoyed in the L.M.S. churches makes it possible for the restlessness and discontent and the love of intrigue to reveal themselves. But the spirit of opposition is only found among a few of the town and commune pastors, and the large majority of the people and the pastors took no part in the criticism of the L.M.S.

Some links with the past were broken during the year. Two may be named. Rainiharijemsa, the last of the old pastors, at Faravohitra Church, died in harness in his seventy-eighth year after thirty-three years as pastor. He was one of the first to attach himself to the new church at Faravohitra in 1869. He was a good, simple man, with a wonderful constitution, which in the early days he exercised in walking marvellous distances in the service of his Master.

Andriamifidy was one of the brilliant men who first entered the college in 1872. Up to the French invasion he was Foreign Minister in the Malagasy Cabinet. Afterwards he was elected pastor of the Martyr Memorial Church at Ampamarinana, and was universally beloved for his good sense and simple faith.

"The interests of the work are very many and varied, like the threads in the warp and woof of a weaver's loom. Sometimes we fear the pattern when finished will show ugly threads and distorted designs, but some we dare hope will please the eye of the Master for Whom is all the weaving."

It is a mistake, the Betsileo report declares, to treat the work of the L.M.S. in Madagascar as completed.

BEACONS IN THE NIGHT

Not a single L.M.S. muscle can be relaxed. The very success of the Mission leaves for the present workers an open door and many adversaries.

The depleted staff in Betsileo were cheered at the end of the year by the news that recruits were hastening to their rescue: Mr. J. P. Tattersfield and the Rev. J. N. B. Whitfield. In the brief survey of 1922, which we must make even briefer, a great shortage of certificated teachers is noted; and for this reason education in the country districts suffers, and a fine opportunity is offered to the Roman Catholic Mission. But the L.M.S. boys training to be teachers in Tananarive are doing well, and should bring relief. The addition of M. Brunel to the staff of the Paris Society is also a welcome strengthening of a weak part of the line. The training of catechists also has received serious attention. Workers of a more mature kind are needed if the country churches are to go forward. The Committee of the Theological Seminary has decided to concentrate upon the training of leaders for the Churches with the purpose of providing a pastor for each Church throughout.

Sunday school work in this area is of a very simple character; it will interest North country and Welsh readers to find that there are 3,000 adults on the Sunday school register. Much interest is shown in the Bible, but the circulation of Bibles was very low last year. Many already have their Bibles, and the times being hard, many were slow to buy; but when an explanation is sought, the illiteracy of the people must not be forgotten. The missionaries commend to their people in every possible way the personal study of the Bible.

The Roman Catholic Mission spares no effort to extend its own work, and to defeat the work of the L.M.S. This the agents of the Roman Church are attempting through the provision of day-schools everywhere. In one town when the plan of building a church was discussed, a Malagasy said; "If our children are to go to the Catholic day-school and church, for whom are we building a big church?" This question of education is vital, as both sides can see. In some cases the Garderies—schools with uncertificated teachers—have been closed through the efforts of the Roman Mission. None the less, it is noteworthy that the missionaries find encouragement in the devotion of very many natives. They show by their steadfastness that the work of the sowers—poor as the soil has sometimes appeared to be—has not been in vain.

Among the incidents of the year comes the story of a new district opened among the Tanala. Three years ago the missionary was visiting certain existing stations in the forest, when he heard of a man who for six years had asked for a church in his village. It was a modern equivalent of the man from Macedonia, who said, "Come over and help us." During 1922 it became possible to begin to answer his call; and permission was given by the Government to build four churches and three schools.

The time of the missionaries in Madagascar must be given to the upbuilding of the Church. They are builders of churches, and one of the veterans, the Rev. D. M. Rees, reports the building of a new school which will be roofed before the next rainy season. But even more important is the training given to the Malagasy from childhood to maturity, and in this service, through school and hostel and seminary, the missionaries do not spare their love and their toil.

The story of the Betsileo District will be incomplete without some mention of the Leper Mission. There are now forty-one lepers in residence, of whom fourteen were admitted during the year. Sunday services are maintained by the willing service of native preachers. There is awakening a new hope for the lepers of the world; but as yet in Madagascar nothing can be done, save to provide alleviation. The value of the institution can be judged from the fact that one patient who died had been for sixteen years in the Leper Home.

TWO most important events were chronicled in the Cook Islands last year—in the life of the Mission, the arrival of the new missionary and his wife ; in the political scene, the introduction of the total prohibition of intoxicating liquor in the islands.

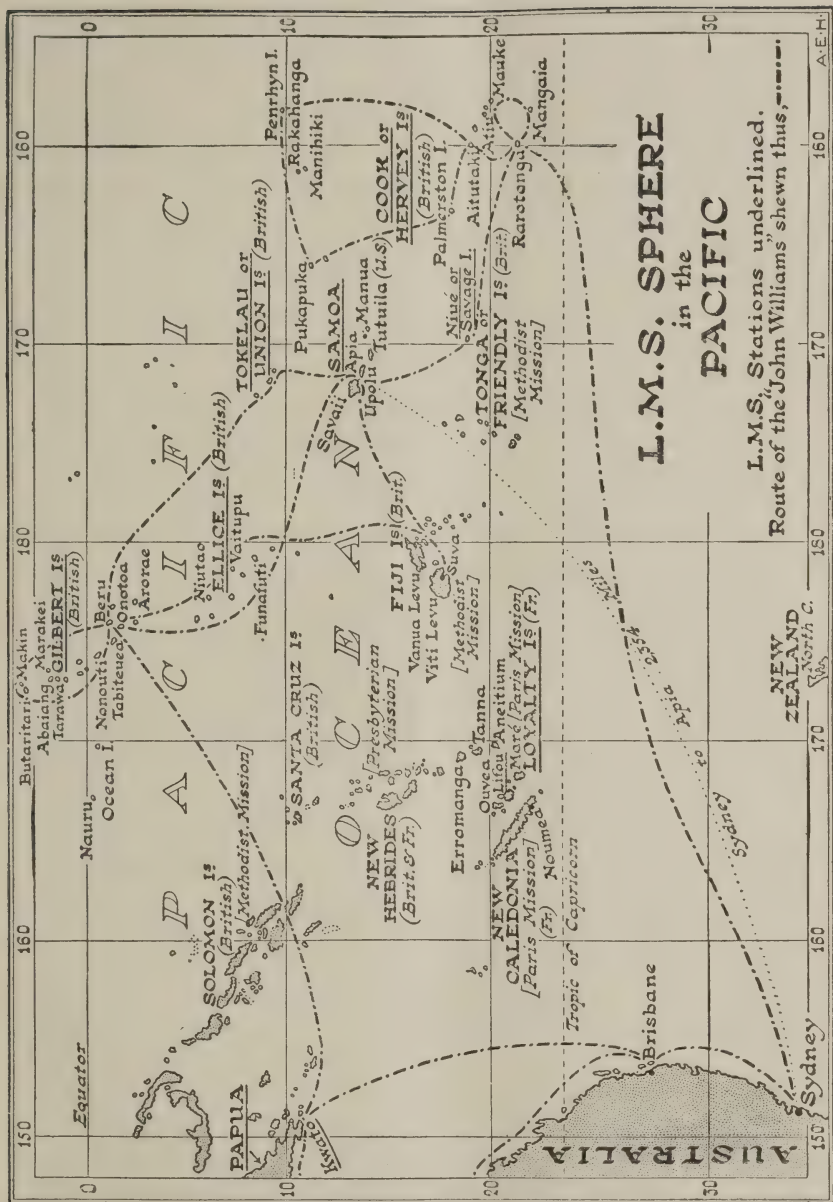

With the arrival of new colleagues the printing department was re-opened and progress was made in the much needed work of preparing native literature for the islands ; it became possible moreover to re-arrange the work of the institution with a view to making the preparation for the ministry much more thorough. One important part of the work is the preparation of the people for fuller independence in their church life. "We are warned, however, not to expect too much in that way for a generation or two. Within the last twelve months no less than four of our pastors have broken down in character." But the hopeful sign is to find a strong recoil in the church from such misconduct.

"The people really desire a pure ministry, and that is a good ground of hope. We have to emphasize the need of regeneration by the Holy Spirit. Church membership has perhaps taken too prominent a place in the thought of the people, and the need of vital union with Christ has fallen into the background."

There is no falling off in the generous giving of the people, and the call upon them for a larger minimum contribution, though it caused a little consternation at first, was cheerfully accepted. Upon the social conditions Mr. Bond James writes :

"There is at present in the islands a craze for European dancing. We have attacks of this kind at times. Some time ago one district started a women's football team, and the idea ran through the district like wildfire."

The great problem of the Mission is how to deal with the young people and the children. "To keep increasing knowledge, greater freedom and enterprise, in sympathy with Jesus Christ and the things of the Spirit is the task that calls for all our strength."

Death and removal took ninety-three names from the roll in Niue; forty-three lapsed, but the missionary had the joy of receiving 136 new members, and the prospects are bright. The young people are rallying round the missionary and there are a number of catechumens on profession. The schools of the island are gradually improving. Even if the Government were to supply European teachers for its schools, it would still be necessary to continue the vernacular schools, not only for their spiritual and moral influence, but also to prevent the children from losing their language and with that their national consciousness. The missionary had the unhappy task of dismissing two students from the institution, but it was encouraging to notice the way in which the other students and the islanders generally handled the matter. Mention should be made of the printing press by means of which Mr. Beharell is seeking to make the Christians aware of the past history of the Church in the island, but "the most important work of all," is the work amongst the women and children of the island. Mrs. Beharell has a class numbering over 100 who by their regular attendance as well as by their words, show how much they value this means of help.

The workers in Samoa tell of many difficulties in church life. A wave of indifference and lawlessness has swept over some of the villages. The Samoans sometimes tend to think that they can do without any counsel and in some quarters there is a revival of the old belief in spirits. The failure in missionary zeal causes grave anxiety, though there is cheering evidence that the Samoan churches are once more looking towards Papua. The greatest need in Samoa is that a Samoan prophet should arise who will awaken his fellow Christians to their old love.

In the High School for boys at Leulumoenga, there was a serious outbreak of tyranny on the part of senior boys which had to be dealt with firmly. The situation in this school, which had been under Samoan leadership, shows how necessary and helpful the European missionary may be still. Mr. Smart consented to accept for the time being the appointment to Leulumoenga, and started work there in January.

The number of students in the Malua Institution rose from seventy-one to eighty-three. This was partly due to the demand for schoolmasters from American Samoa. The school had a successful year; of the men entering for the final examination, three were of outstanding ability, and great things are hoped from them in the future. Now that the immediate pressing needs of Samoa, consequent on the great epidemic, have been supplied, we may expect a revival of missionary interest.

In the district of Falealili in addition to other duties, the missionary has had to do a great deal of medical service. On some days he may have as many as fifty patients and it is well to remember that both he and other missionaries in other parts of the field, have to act on occasion as physicians, surgeons and dentists.

"I have just been listening to Pastor Finau. He gave us a fine vigorous sermon," the missionary writes. "This year he was appointed Chairman of the Native Assembly; he has completed 50 years as a Christian worker; a clear, strong, accurate speaker and preacher!"

On the Island of Olosenga in American Samoa the new church building was opened free of debt in Samoan fashion; during the absence of Mr. and Mrs. Kinnersley on furlough, the oversight of this district fell to Miss Holder who reports that the offerings of 1922 exceeded those of the past few years. The number of girls on the roll of the Atauloma Girls' High School is forty-five. The school has not yet recovered from the period following Miss Moore's death when it was closed for several months. There are signs, however, that its ranks are filling up. Much of the spiritual work of the school fell to the chaplain who in spite of increasing age and infirmity, discharged his duty faithfully. The favourite game in the school, Miss Janet Barker remarks, is cricket, which the girls play with zest and with an adaptation of rules which reminds one of the game of croquet in "Alice Through the Looking Glass."

BEACONS IN THE NIGHT

The last institution to which this review can refer is the Papauta Girls' High School. It was a great happiness for Miss Small to welcome a new colleague, Miss Downs. The school grew to 150 at the close of the year. The Samoan staff remains the same and Lakena has been now twenty-three years at Papauta. "She often says in her own droll way that she and her old horse are all that are left of their generation." The following subjects were taught — Scripture, physiology and hygiene, geography, arithmetic, English, general knowledge, composition (both in English and Samoan), singing and music, needlework, laundry-work and housework. Three of the Samoan girls were admitted during the year as probationers to the Samoan hospital. It is interesting to note that 1,100 girls have passed through this school since its commencement in 1891. "Who can estimate what the lives of these girls have meant. There have been failures among them, there are still, but what of the hundreds who have been raised to a finer, truer womanhood here, and who have gone forth year after year to be witnesses to the power of Jesus Christ."

The most significant fact in the story of the Gilbert Islands was the discovery of plague rats on the John Williams. This brought a sudden stop to the visitation of the islands.

"The failure of the ship to visit the islands from which come our chief supplies of boys and girls in the schools of Ronorono dealt our work here a very heavy blow. For some time past the parents had found it difficult to keep their children in funds even to the small extent required for their very modest requirements. The rare calls of ships, the fall in the price of copra which is the only marketable commodity, the increasingly heavy Government taxation, and poor seasons through lack of rain have combined to make it very difficult for the Gilbertese families to keep one, and still less two or three, of their young people away from school."

In spite of all the efforts made by the missionaries, it was found imperative to take back to their homes rather more than half the scholars. This was a heart-breaking business for the missionaries, but there was no alternative. At the end of 1921, the numbers stood about 200, at the end of 1922 there were only eighty-one in the schools, apart from teachers, but in spite of the difficulties the work of the institution has gone on steadily, and during the year twenty-five of the young people in the institution were received into church fellowship. The printing press has published during the year among other books a new edition of Bible stories and a thousand copies of a new booklet entitled "Jesus Christ among Men." This is written in Rarotongan and translated into Gilbertese. From the visitation of the islands it was discovered that the work had been seriously affected in some places because of a revival of old customs and dances. It was a matter for surprise that the Government has encouraged this in some islands.

There is amidst all the record of difficulty in the Gilberts a note of deep gratitude for the deliverance from plague.

"Try to imagine our feelings when on going aboard after visiting the Island of Nonouti we found an air of chill dread about the ship, and were at once called into the captain's cabin, where after making sure of privacy he broke to us the news:—'Well, we're up against it now. We're infected with plague!' We were on a little ship, crowded with native passengers; three thousand miles from the nearest port where effective medical aid could be obtained. The rats were apparently dying like flies. It seemed as if plague were almost certain to break out among our native passengers and the crew. Indeed, a man had gone down already with glands, and fever."

In this perilous time they made direct for Beru, established an isolation camp there, and by this and other such means they did all they could do and waited. When the voluntary quarantine was over and there were no cases of plague, their thanksgiving service was most real and heartfelt.

"When we heard that all was well with the ship as well as at our end, we felt that God had wonderfully answered our prayers, and had delivered us with a great deliverance. Wherefore we give thanks unto His Name, and rededicate ourselves to His service, for He is the God of Deliverance and highly to be praised of His people."

Of the interesting review made by Mr. Bralsford of his work it will not be necessary to write here, because the story has already been told in the March Chronicle. But a note may be added from Mr. Arnold's account of the Northern Islands. The attention to building may be illustrated from Morikao where the mission house has been reroofed with asbestos tiles ; two big cement tanks have been built, a fine church, school house, boys' boarding house, two boat-houses, one with cement slipway ready for the motor launch, teachers' house, and a number of dwelling houses for married students. During the year there have been about forty-five students and about thirty women and girls attending the school, the total number with children on the station being about 110. The work in the Northern Islands, in spite of a few setbacks here and there, was slow but steadily progressing.

It fell to Mr. Morley, Miss Small and Leaunga to make the annual visit to the North-western outposts, the Ellice and Tokelau Islands. Their story is one of busy movement from one tiny island to another, of adventurous landings, inspections of schools, interviews with pastors and their people—a story of encouragement and counsel without which the ministry of these lonely pastors would be hard indeed. When they visited Papaelise, the scene of Miss Jolliffe's devoted service, they found a school house in fair repair, but the other buildings in a dilapidated condition. It was agreed that the boarding school for girls was essential, but the deputation had to consider, whether it should be reopened on the old, or some new site.

"It is with gratitude we record that, as the result of the Jubilee gathering held earlier in the year, the old heathen element in Nanumea, which has so long withstood the Gospel, has at last made public profession of belief in the Saviour. More than one hundred were converted during Jubilee week.

"The special Jubilee Offering was unusually large, £500 for the Society and £500 for the pastor. Then thirty couples offered for Papua. Their intention is to found a preaching centre in any suitable part of Papua, the church in Nanumea to be responsible for their sustenance.

"We interviewed these volunteers on Friday afternoon. Considered from the physical standpoint they are a group of fine able-bodied young people, most of whom are between the ages of twenty-five and thirty-five."

Papua.

"The Territory of Papua," says Judge Murray, the Lieutenant-Governor, "is rather larger than the State of Victoria, and more than half as large again as England ; it is . . . a country of almost impenetrable swamp and well-nigh inaccessible mountain, and it is policed by three hundred natives—the savages of yesterday, the cannibals and head hunters of, at the most, a single generation back—under the command of some thirty white men.”

Into this territory for more than fifty years the L.M.S. has carried the light of Christ; and the stories of these outposts during another year, with their beacons aflame, are before us. “A strenuous year,” says one, “but little to report!” If there is no outstanding event in the year’s story, it is well to remember that the fire is always kept burning; and the most important thing of all—the perpetual challenge of the Mission to heathendom—does not come into the reports of any one year.

“The attitude of indifference which had sprung up throughout the whole Fly River District,” writes Mr. Baxter Riley, from Daru, “has been somewhat modified, but the whole of the lost ground has not been recovered.” About 500 men and boys are now away at work, and their absence affects the attendance. A large number of the older members died during the year, for the influenza did not spare this district. The story of the villages is varied; in one there was a spiritual awakening, in another “the indifference is appalling.” The oversight of a district in Papua brings to the missionary a share in many anxieties and sorrows; Mr. Riley notes some losses which cast a gloom over the district; among them the death of a Papuan teacher trained at Vatorata.

The English School at Daru was carried on under the superintendence of Mrs. Riley, ably assisted by William. The boys rendered much service in repairing Mission property and native churches in the district.

“We started our Mission,” writes Mr. Butcher from the Aird Hill and Urika districts, “faced by a high wall of suspicion, indifference, and in some cases of dangerous hostility. This has broken down and we can be sure of a friendly greeting almost everywhere in the Delta. Instead of seeing canoes laden with shrieking women and children speeding away up the creeks at our approach, village life now goes on without interruption and none are afraid.”

But now that the pioneer days are over, the harder work remains. The forces of light and darkness are beginning to marshal themselves openly against each other; and if there are many successes there will be disappointments, too; perhaps it is along this road that we shall be called to share in some small measure in the sufferings of Christ.

All the boys and girls in this station are trained in technical work, such as carpentry, basket work, blind and mat-making; whatever repairs are needed on the station are done without call for outside help Jim of Hula was placed at Veru and, at once started a school;

"The children gave freely of their labours in the building of a little church. . . . The opening of the church brings us one step nearer the occupation of the Goaribari villages. It is a very unpretentious building and the opening service was a very simple one, but we regard it as one of the outstanding events of the year and full of promise."

A small service book with short catechism, hymns, prayers, sentences for Communion has been completed, but it will be understood how little time the head of a district has to give to translation. In accordance with the resolution of the Papuan District Committee, the missionary has been steadily teaching English, which is a means whereby the varied tribes can speak together. No additions to Church membership are reported. "Yet would be easy to baptize many, but I doubt if it would be wise. The seed is being sown, we see signs of it germinating, and we take up another year's work full of thankfulness and hope." The industrial work at Urika gives no profits yet, but is a most valuable educational work, and promises to be self-supporting.

Quiet plodding work, hopes of an awakening of interest followed by disappointments; such was the character of Orokolo work. Among the encouragements may be mentioned the school attendance on many of the out-stations; and in four villages the people have built new churches. "Towards the end of the year," writes Mr. Schlenker, "I had the pleasure of opening three of these churches, two of them in villages where untrained evangelists are working. We hope others will follow their example." Much time was given during the year to translation, and a new hymn and reading book was sent to Australia for printing. At the head station it is planned to erect a new church, in which the people will give of their best. It is not always recognized what great strides have been made when a primitive race is willing to build a church for nothing; "the Kingdom of God is very slow in coming, and the light seems often overpowered by the darkness." But the keepers of the beacon do not lose heart.

In Moru the L.M.S. has a firm footing; the people are keen to learn and the L.M.S. gives them education; they especially desire to learn English. A school workshop was built with the aid of the Government grant of £100. In this work the South Sea men and their wives helped nobly. Four months were spent by Mr. Moir Smith away from his station, but his time, spent partly in overhauling launch engines for his fellow-missionaries, was not wasted. "The time is drawing near now when I shall be saying 'goodbye' to Moru; with all the difficulties that I have had to face . . . I look forward with a good deal of sadness. It has been my first charge. I have struggled with the language so that I might understand the people. I am on very intimate terms with large numbers of the young men, and from them I grieve to part. For them I came to Papua."

From Delena Mr. Dauncey writes: "Gratitude for a certain amount of reaping after long sowing is the note of the report; and this gratitude is all the more heartfelt in that the ingathering has come from several villages and not from just one." The new members at Delena were all members of the Mission family. "The waiting has been long, but the joy of the ingathering is none the less on that account" Education in the village varies strangely; sometimes one village will receive it gladly, and in the adjacent village, where another language is spoken, the people may declare "We do not want school," and that "we do not want," to them, seemed to close the question.

It is ten years since there was a teacher at Matapaila, but when Mr. Dauncey visited it again, the people saw him coming and began to ring "the none too melodious bell." They produced their testaments and hymn books, but the tunes were altered beyond recognition. When the service was over the people handed the missionary £1 6s. for the L.M.S.

This is a poor district, passing through hard times. Not a village has escaped the scourge of influenza. In such times the people are tempted to fall back upon old tribal customs, which are not far below the surface.

Death claimed eighty-two members of the Church at Port Moresby. A large number were suspended from membership because they would not accept the decision of the Church Council, which forbids participation in the feasts made for the dead. These reasons will explain a momentary decline in numbers: but fifty-seven recruits were added to the Church, and there are seventy-two catechumens. Some have returned to the Seekers' Class which is called the "Come here" class; after school they had gone back into village heathenism, but they were not satisfied, and sought to tread once more in "the way of light."

The Jubilee of the Mission among the Motu people was kept during the year in a practical way. At the beginning the total membership of the district was assessed; and it was shown that if the gifts averaged 13s. 4d. a member, the district would be self-supporting. The Motuans took this up with enthusiasm, and raised £849, of which £764 was forwarded to Sydney, together with a load of sandal-wood, offered by a small Church. Many of the village schools in this district showed real good work, and the standard is raised from year to year.

In October Mr. and Mrs. Clark, with some Koitapu carriers, made a journey to the Koiari tribes behind the Astrolabe Range. Eleven villages were visited and services held in each—a tiring tramp, but worth while! The Motuans Church needs an outlet for its, in the judgment of the missionaries, Christian energy; and it is there ready to hand in the Koiari, past masters in sorcery and secret murder, the despair of Government officials—and asking for teachers!

The future home of the Vatorata Institute was much under discussion in 1922; it has now been finally decided to remove to Fife Bay; in its new home it will be more favourably situated because of the rich supply of good food and fresh water to serve all the districts in training men to be pastors and evangelists. One Port Moresby student passed out of Vatorata and was appointed to a village in that district, while one student from that district and two from Daru passed the entrance examination. During Mr. and Mrs. Turner's absence, through the ill-health of Mr. Turner, the leadership was taken by Mr. and Mrs. Bradbury, to whom a deep sense of gratitude is expressed The Women's Institution, in addition to its usual work, had often to act as a hospital. Edgar, a boy of thirteen died ; of him it was said : " He was one of those who make it all seem worth while."

Headway is reported from Boku District, in which three new Church buildings were erected, and one special school building, and one new Mission-house. " It must not be forgotten that the better housing of the teachers in the villages is silently preaching the advantages to body and mind of more spacious and hygienic dwellings." The head station is progressing ; there are twenty students, some of whom represent the best of Inland Papua.

During the year the villages in the Hula District were regrouped. " The teachers are now placed so that eight of them have each two villages to look after." In order to improve the teaching it was arranged for the teachers, one at a time, to stay at the head station for six months. When certain Christians were suspended for gambling, they said that they saw no wrong in doing what the white man does.

It fell to Mr. Rich during the furlough of Mr. and Mrs. Saville to pay several extended visits to Mailu. " It was a real pleasure to mark the loyalty the young people were showing to the teaching of their absent missionaries."

The note of the year in Fife Bay was reconstruction. Good work was done in the school at the station ; and on the industrial side also good work was done ; one visitor, a friend of the L.M.S. from Wiltshire, volunteered to stay and lend a hand ; for nearly six months he lived in the heart of the work at the Isuisu Plantation.

The work at Kwato went forward steadily ; prices were high and food was scarce ; and these conditions have interfered with the work of the schools. Several young people, however, confessed their faith in Christ ; and there is no greater reward for the missionary than that.

LONDON MISSIONARY SOCIETY

(129TH)

GENERAL MEETING OF MEMBERS

*Minutes of the Annual Business Meeting of the Society, held in the Board Room of the Memorial Hall, on Monday,
May 7th, 1923, at 12 noon.*

The Chair was taken by the Rev. H. Elvet Lewis, M.A.

Prayer was offered by the Rev. H. T. Johnson, of Madagascar.

The Annual Report and Statement of Accounts were presented by the Rev. Nelson Bitton (Home Secretary) and Mr. W. F. Bradford (Assistant Treasurer).

On the motion of Arthur Porritt, Esq., seconded by the Rev. W. J. Lawrence, it was resolved:—

“That the Annual Report and Statement of Accounts, now presented, be adopted, printed and circulated among the constituents of the Society.”

The List of Directors recommended by the retiring Board was presented by the Home Secretary.

The following resolution, moved by Arthur Burns, Esq., and seconded by Mrs. J. G. Stevenson, was adopted:—

“That Mr. W. H. Somervell, J.P., be Treasurer; that Mr. F. H. Hawkins, LL.B., and Rev. Frank Lenwood, M.A., be Foreign Secretaries; that the Rev. Nelson Bitton and Mrs. Parker Crane, M.A., be Home Secretaries; that the Rev. Edward Shillito, M.A., be Editorial Superintendent; and that the list of Honorary Directors, and the list of Directors nominated, respectively, by the various Auxiliaries and representative bodies and by the Board, be approved, and that the men and women named therein be appointed Directors for the ensuing year.”

The meeting closed with the Benediction.

SUPPOSE FOR A MOMENT

that a little child of your acquaintance was suddenly orphaned, with no legacy but friendlessness, destitution and distress.

Would you, could you, turn away from that orphaned child with cold indifference, willing to let it drift no one knows whither? No, of course not! Such callousness is unthinkable.

We, who have cared for orphans for nearly 166 years, know many such children; and they are waiting for admission into our school at Haverstock Hill, where 7,000 orphans have been maintained and educated since the year 1758.

The particulars of some of the cases are very, very pathetic indeed, and in every case there is this deep abiding pathos—each child is FATHERLESS! The whole future of these little ones is at stake. We dare not take the responsibility of ignoring the appeal of their great and urgent need. We want to act in the place of parents who are dead, and to do that we have to appeal for your help. Will you give it?

Four Good Reasons

WHY Congregationalists insure their Churches and Private Houses and Contents with the Congregational Insurance Co., Limited.

1. PERFECT SECURITY.

No Denominational Company has ever had to close its doors, or be absorbed by another Company. Almost every denomination has its own Insurance Company. The first was founded nearly sixty years ago. They all have honourable records, and the CONGREGATIONAL stands well amongst them in this, as well as in respect of the volume of its business and reserve funds. Owing to the excellent character of its business, its loss ratio is usually less than half that of Companies doing general business.

2. MODERATE PREMIUMS.

The rates charged are the lowest permitted by the Fire Offices' Committee (commonly known as the Tariff), to which the CONGREGATIONAL was admitted thirty-two years ago.

3. PROMPT and GENEROUS SETTLEMENT OF CLAIMS.

The Company was founded to serve the Churches, and has always kept this as its first purpose: and in carrying it out, losses are met in a liberal spirit, and paid for as soon as necessary information is supplied. Claims paid exceed £60,000.

4. OUR PROFITS HELP Congregational Societies that care for the weaker Churches, and poorer Ministers and Ministers' Widows, as well as insured Colleges and Schools at home, and Missionaries in the Colonies and Foreign Lands. £14,240 has already been given.
